Shows County Election Costs 4th High In Ohio

KENNEDY SETS MEETING TO PARE EXPENSE

Secretary of State Calls All Election Boards, Clerks to Conference May 23-24.

VOTES COST $1.17 HERE

Only 3 Counties in State Top Richland's Per Capita, Figures Reveal.

Secretary of State William J. Kennedy today called a conference of county election boards to slash state election expenses and at the same time released figures which showed that Richland county has the fourth highest per capita election costs in the state.

Kennedy set the meeting of election members and clerks for May 23 and 24 in Columbus. He said he hoped to pare at least $250,000 from the state's election expense in 1938.

Lowest Per Capita 41 Cents.

The Richland county cost per vote was listed at $1 17 by Kennedy, while other counties have costs as low as 41 cents.

In only three counties, all of them with greater populations than Richland, is the per capita cost of holding elections higher than it is here. They are Lucas (Toledo), where the cost is listed at $1.71; Montgomery (Dayton), $1.32, and Franklin (Columbus), $1.27.

Hardin county was the lowest on the list, showing a cost per vote of 41 cents. Highland county had 43 cents, and Perry and Putnam counties, 51 cents. The Ashland county cost is 80 cents

Favors Less Precincts.

Kennedy suggested that the number of precincts be reduced and that cuts be made in the personnel and materials required as means of cutting state expense.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of Richland county commissioners, said he believed the number of precincts could be reduced in the county without damaging the efficiency of the election set-up.

Head of Capital University Will Address Seniors

Dr. Otto Mees, president of Capital university, Columbus, will deliver the commencement address June 9 at Mansfield High school, W. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, announced today.

Commencement exercises for approximately 300 seniors, the largest class in the history of the school, will be held in the stadium if the weather permits. Otherwise the exercises will be shifted to the gymnasium due to the size of the class.

Plans to hold an outdoor commencement last year were spoiled by rain at the last minute and the program was held in the auditorium. All the school's commencement activities in recent years have been in the auditorium.

Dr. Mees, one of Ohio's leading educators, is in much demand as a speaker before school and civic groups, Miller said.

New Relays Record Set As 74th School Enters

Latest Entries for Track Carnival Swell Total to 3 Above Former High.

19 FROM 5 STATES

Number of Individuals In Meet Also Hits New Record of 1,117.

Mansfield's famed interscholastic track and field carnival went "over the top" today.

Eight more entries were received to swell the total for the Mansfield Relays to be run at Stadium field Saturday to a new record of 74 schools.

The previous record of 71 schools was established in 1932, which was the year Jesse Owens of Ohio State and Olympic fame made his final appearance as a competitor in the meet.

Erie, Huntington Enter.

Included among the entries received today were two more from other states. Erie, Pa., East and Huntington, W. Va., filed to send the out-of-state total to 19 teams, representing Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Akron North, Cleveland John Marshall, Canton McKinley, Kent Roosevelt, University school of Columbus and Bucyrus are the latest Ohio entries.

Although no previous figures are available, Director Harry E. Mehock stated that the number of individuals entered by the 74 schools also establishes a new mark for the 12-year history of the event.

1,117 Athletes.

A total of 1,117 athletes have been definitely entered.

In this record number of athletes will be some of the outstanding performers of the states represented. The field will be dotted with champions in various events, with the middle-distance runs having the heaviest representations.

Mehock said today that he expects a few more entries, but doubted whether the 100-team mark would be reached.

However, he was far from disappointed as the total now assures the Mansfield meet of the largest field ever to compete in an event of this type in the nation.

Meanwhile, Mehock and his army of assistants were busily engaged in completing arrangements for the relays, which is expected to attract a record crowd of spectators Saturday.

Eighteen events are on the Relays schedule, with trials starting at 10 a. m., and the final events at 2.

The stadium will be decked out in red and white banners, an innovation this year.

Princess All Agog

LONDON — (U.P.) — Princess Elizabeth, heir to the throne, haunted the entrances of Windsor castle today, running an exploratory hand over every arriving package and trying to guess the contents.

Thursday is the princess' 12th birthday anniversary and packages are pouring into the castle.

Thursday afternoon there will be a big birthday party with tea and movies. Elizabeth was allowed to choose the films to be shown and one of them was "Snow White."

ITALY SET FOR FRENCH TREATY, ROME REPORTS

Preliminary Negotiations on 'Friendship Pact' to Start Tomorrow, Envoy Hints.

(By United Press)

ROME—Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister, informed Jules F. Blondel, French charge d'affaires, today that Italy was prepared to negotiate a friendship treaty with France, it was said authoritatively.

It was understood that preliminary conversations would be started tomorrow if Blondel received his instructions from the French foreign office in time.

Blondel visited Ciano at the foreign office at noon and they held their first official conversation on the negotiation plan.

Confer Half Hour.

They talked for half an hour. Blondel was understood to have asked Ciano whether Premier Benito Mussolini was ready to negotiate with France a treaty of friendship similar to that initialed Saturday between Great Britain and Italy. Ciano, it was said, promptly responded that Italy was ready

Blondel was instructed Sunday, as an Easter peace gesture, to approach Ciano Reports from Paris were that he at once communicated informally with Ciano and that he made the appointment for the King Carol Pushes Purge of Dictatorship Plotters.

BUCHAREST, Roumania — (U.P.) —King Carol today jailed more members of the Nazi-like Iron Guards which allegedly plotted to overthrow the government and set up a Fascist dictatorship under Cornelu Zelea Codreanu.

Codreanu, Carol's bitterest enemy and chief of the night-raiding guards, 30 per cent of his lieutenants and more than 2,000 of his followers were in jail. They faced charges ranging from high treason to seditious activities. Death, life imprisonment or long prison terms may be the penalty for treason. Lesser sentences are provided for the minor offenses.

A number of Greek orthodox priests, members of the church which Carol's premier, Patriarch Miron Christea, heads, were under arrest.

Yesterday's rain was recorded at .31 inch.

$7,500,000 Compromise Looms In Ohio Bell Rate Refund Case

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — A spokesman for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co said today a settlement was "imminent" in the long-litigated $11,832,264 rate refunder case.

Proposals are awaiting approval of the state public utilities commission, the spokesman said. A reported compromise figure of $7,500,000, including interest, was described as being approximately correct.

The commission ordered the refunds to subscribers in 47 Ohio communities for the years 1925 to 1932, inclusive, objecting to rate schedules posted by the company when unifying its service after a consolidation of several Ohio companies into Ohio Bell Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy has estimated that interest would increase the $11,832,164 sum to a total of about $18,000,000.

The case finally reached the U. S. supreme court a year ago this month.

The opinion, written by Justice Cardozo, hit the Ohio court's refusal to let the telephone company submit property schedules on which rate-making valuations could be figured for each year.

The U. S. supreme court did not rule on the merits of the case and the opinion did not change the refund order. Then the Ohio supreme court last July 1 vacated and set aside its decree, and directed the case remanded to the state commission "for further proceedings not inconsistent with the opinion of the supreme court of the United States."

4 Hurt In Collapse Of Building

Invite Neighbor Cities to Mansfield 'Pioneer Party'

Territory Officials Ask 10 Communities to Send Delegations and Enter Floats In Parade.

Ten cities and villages in the Mansfield area were invited today to participate May 2 in the Richland county observance of the founding of the Northwest Territory 150 years ago.

Invitations were mailed to mayors of the municipalities by Glenn L. Bierly, chairman of the parade committee, who asked that the neighboring towns enter floats in the parade and send delegations to Mansfield for the celebration.

Proclaims 'Pioneer Week'.

Meanwhile, Mayor Claude M. Hunter of Mansfield today had proclaimed the week of April 26 to May 3 as "Pioneer Week," during which the city will become celebration conscious in its preparation for the county-wide observance here.

Committee heads estimated today that more than 60,000 persons will witness the pioneer parade in Mansfield the afternoon of May 2 when the federal Northwest Territory caravan arrives here from Sandusky to head a parade through the city.

The caravan will include covered wagons pulled by oxen and driven by a company of men and women clad in pioneer costumes of the days when Ohio became a part of the Northwest Territory under provisions of the Ordinance of 1787. The company, which is touring all of the state originally included in the Northwest Territory, will arrive in Mansfield aut 2 p. m., the afternoon of the celebration.

WALL CAVES IN

Collapse of Garage Foundation Halts Willard Project.

WILLARD—Work on the construction of the new Eagles lodge home on Maple street was temporarily halted today by the collapse of a section of the adjoining building in which the Englert garage is located.

Rain last night is believed to have softened the foundation and the rear corner of the one-story brick garage building fell into the excavation for the new home early today.

A portion of the wall next to the excavation settled approximately six feet. A section of the roof also was damaged by warped girders.

The 15-year-old garage building is owned by William Englert. He was unable to estimate the amount of damages but said none of the cars stored in the garage were damaged.

FORTY-MINUTE SANITY TEST GIVEN COPPER

Two Doctors Examine Officer, Confer With Anderson After Hearing.

STYERT DELAYS ACTION

Examination Conducted After Wife Files Application Following Shooting.

BULLETIN

Acting on the recommendation from two examining physicians, Probate Judge C. J. Anderson at noon today held Patrolman Harry Copper to be mentally ill and ordered him hospitalized for observation.

Probate Judge C. J. Anderson and two physicians today held a 40-minute sanity examination for Patrolman Harry Copper in the office of Police Chief Meade K. Bates at the city building.

Following the examination of Copper, two physicians, Drs. Charles G. Brown and R. V. Myers retired to Judge Anderson's office to make their report and present their recommendations.

Emerging from the chief's office, Anderson said he had no comment to make until he had heard a full report from the examining physicians.

Mrs. Copper filed the application for the hearing in probate court yesterday, following the Easter day shooting in which the officer had threatened his wife and four children with his service revolver. She was represented at the hearing this morning by Atty. James V. Will.

Styert Delays Action.

In the meantime Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert said that no action would be taken concerning Copper's status on the police force until he receives a report from Judge Anderson. He explained that it was possible that a sick leave might be granted, depending on the circumstances surrounding the case.

However, Dr. L. C. Benedict, senior member of the civil service commission, explained that should a request for a sick leave be recommended by Bates, the commission would have to decide whether it would be granted.

Meanwhile Styert said that he had not yet received the certifications of men eligible to the police force from the civil service commission. Styert called for the cer-

DIES IN PLUNGE

Show Girl Jumps From Hotel After Drinking Party.

NEW YORK—(INS)—A blond and attractive show girl jumped or fell to her death from a Times Square hotel today.

She had registered at the hotel as T. Thaiss Daniels of Chicago but also used several other names, police were told.

Her unclad body plunged to the street after a drinking party in the hotel. Her companion in the hotel room who disclaimed all knowledge of the girl's plunge was held by police as a material witness. He is John Stapelli.

The girl survived the plunge for several hours but died later in Bellevue hospital. Last rites were administered by two Catholic priests who happened to be nearby.

Scour East Coast For Lost Flier And His Power Glider

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—The whole eastern coast and the islands dotting Long Island sound were searched today for the silver-winged power glider which droned off into the skies over Roosevelt field Friday carrying Andrew Carnegie Whitfield and has not been seen since.

The 28-year-old nephew of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie disappeared as completely as though the skies had opened up to admit him and his plane and then closed again. First search over a wide area revealed no trace of the plane, no indication of what might have happened to its pilot.

In the absence of any reports of the discovery of a wrecked plane was the theory that the ship might have dropped into the sound carrying Whitfield with it.

State Employes Always Paid Toward Campaign Fund, He Declares.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Gov. Martin L. Davey said today that assessing of state employes to create a campaign fund "has always been done by political parties and by most of the candidates since this government was founded."

"I am not attempting to argue whether this procedure is right or wrong," he asserted. "The fact is that it has always been done . . . "

Davey, announced candidate for a third term, criticized what he called campaign collection methods of Democratic National Committeeman Charles Sawyer and former Atty. Gen. John Bricker, a Republican, both of whom have announced as candidates for the governorship.

"If this procedure can properly be called a shakedown," Davey said in a radio address last night, "then it is true that Mr. Bricker shook down his employes in 1936."

(Former Attorney General Bricker was a gubernatorial candidate in 1936.)

With reference to Sawyer, Davey declared:

"Two years ago he solicited campaign contributions from the

FINAL SEWAGE PAYMENT MADE

Styert Authorizes Paying of $6,089 to Contractor as Engineer OK's Plant.

The city of Mansfield today had made the final payment of $6,089 on its $300,000 sewage treatment plant.

The payment, authorized by Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert on recommendations from George B. Sowers, Cleveland, the designing engineer, had been withheld since Feb. 6 while mechanical difficulties at the plant were being corrected by the contractors. It represented a 2 per cent retainer of the total amount of the contracts.

In his recommendation for final payment to the Lowensohn Construction company, Sowers said: "All terms of the contract have been complied with and the entire plant is in good condition. All repairs have been satisfactorily made."

Sowers also commented on the supervision of the plant, adding that "the reports which I have been receiving on the operation of the plant under J. R. Turner's supervision are most gratifying."

The final payment which was to have been made Feb. 6 was withheld by the city following an inspection of the plant by the state department of health in which several mechanical faults were pointed out and supervision of the plant was criticized.

PICKETS BAR DELINQUENTS, NON-UNIONISTS

Buick Also Shuts Down After Supply of Bodies for Cars Runs Out.

4,800 EMPLOYES IDLE

Block Workers From Entering Plant for Failure to Show Paid Up Memberships.

(By United Press)

FLINT, Mich.—Fisher Body company closed its plant for the second day this morning, only one hour after it had reopened with a force from which union pickets had barred all non-union workers and members delinquent in dues.

Half an hour later Buick division of General Motors corporation closed its final assembly line when the supply of bodies from Fisher plant No. 1 was cut off. The two shut-downs threw approximately 4,800 men out of work.

Production Started.

New bodies already had begun to roll out of the big Fisher plant when the order came to cease production.

Across the street several hundred men-anti-union workers and members of the United Automobile Workers Union who have not paid their dues—stood in a line gazing at pickets massed in front of the factory's gates. They had been turned back when they failed to produce paid-up membership cards.

Neither police nor company guards interfered as pickets turned back all cars whose drivers either were non-union men or were delinquent in their dues.

Do Rushing Business.

Union officials lined a sidewalk across from the plant and did a rushing business, collecting back dues and signing up new members.

Reopening of the Fisher and Buick plants sent 4,800 men back to work. The Buick factory's final assembly line closed shortly after noon yesterday when the supply of bodies from Fisher was cut off.

Meanwhile both the Buick and Chevrolet divisions of General Motors corporation were threatened by impending strike votes. The polls already had the approval of the union membership and were sanctioned by officials.

Charges Public Works Program Duplicates RFC Loans

GLASS SERVES NOTICE HE'LL BATTLE PLAN

Declares New Lending Bill He Sponsored Authorizes Municipal Loans.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senator Glass (D.-Va.) charged today that the administration's proposed revival of public works duplicates a program which is possible under authority recently given the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Glass, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, said he would support President Roosevelt's recommendation for $1,250,000,000 for relief, but would not vote for a $1,000,000,000 fund to provide public works loans and grants to cities and states.

Authorizes Loans.

The newly-enacted RFC lending bill, which Glass sponsored, authorizes that agency to make public works loans to state and municipal governments. The same statute also assigns the agency "blank check" powers in making loans to business. As far as is publicly known, however, only business loans have been considered.

When he introduced the bill, Glass said, he believed it would "take care of public works."

"Otherwise I would never have introduced it," he added.

Some legislators interpreted the situation as evidencing a keen rivalry between the RFC and the public works administration for control of the big new lending program. Glass was understood to have favored RFC control because of the known conservatism of Chairman Jesse H. Jones.

Jones discussed the general recovery program in a radio speech last night, declaring:

"We must have confidence in our country and confidence in our government, and if we demonstrate that confidence by action, better business will follow.

"So much has been said about fear that we have all become imbued with the idea that something is wrong with the country, when, as a matter of fact, we have never had a greater abundance of everything needed for a really high standard of living than we have now."

Blames Debt, Inflation.

Jones said his board would not feel authorized to make loans unless it appeared the borrower would be able to pay back the money.

"Too much debt and inflation of values were the principal causes of the 1929 collapse," he said, "and prudent borrowing is just as essential as prudent lending."

Senator Borah (R.-Ida.), who said he would vote for relief but questioned the advisability of a large pump-priming appropriation, declared all his mail was against renewed spending."

'I'll Tell,' Jackie Says of 'Bad Thing' He Did At 20 Years

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) —Jackie Coogan expressed willingness today to accept his mother's invitation and state the nature of the "particularly bad thing" he did when he was 20 years old.

Unfortunately, he continued, he couldn't remember ever having been "particularly bad." In his adolescent years he said, he hadn't been exactly a perfect boy, but it had been "just kid stuff" and "it wasn't really serious."

Jackie said these incidents were mainly concerned with speeding charges.

His mother, Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein, now the wife of Arthur L. Bernstein, who was his father's business manager when Jackie was making $4,000 a week in the movies, testified at a deposition hearing yesterday that she had refused to give him any of the $4,000,000 he earned as a child because he was more than "just a bad boy—he was a 20-year-old bad boy."

REPUBLIC TAKES ORDER TO COURT

Files Appeal on Labor Board Edict Forcing It to Reemploy 5,000.

(By United Press)

PHILADELPHIA—The Republic Steel corporation today had filed an appeal in the U. S. circuit court of appeals here from the National Labor Relations board decision finding it guilty of violating the Wagner act.

The corporation also asked the court to restrain the board from taking any further action to enforce its mandate, including the reinstatement of 5,000 strikers, until the appeal is heard.

The court permitted the appeal petition, which attacked the constitutionality of the Wagner law, to be filed but took no action on the request for the restraining order and fixed no time for hearing.

It was explained at the court that a hearing date would be set after the board sends in a complete record of the case, which covers thousands of pages of testimony of the alleged brutality of the company guards against striking CIO steel workers.

The corpration's Ohio plants were the scenes of bloody labor riots a year ago.

On April 8 the labor board ruled that the steel company had violated the labor act and had used violent means to "kill off" CIO, and had shut its plants to prevent employes from being "unionized."

BOARD ORDERS TRANSFORMER AT SIMPSON TO CUT POWER COSTS

In a brief session last night, the Mansfield board of education approved the installation of a large transformer at John Simpson Junior high school at a cost of $981 and authorized the removal of playground equipment from the Newman school to Liberty park.

Suggested by J. B. Moke, superintendent of buildings, the transformer installation will save the school board approximately $500 a year in a reduced power rate, according to J. A. McDermid, engineer for the Ohio Public Service company, who appeared before the board at the meeting.

The installation, he said, will give the school a combined power and commercial lighting rate, while now it receives only a commercial lighting rate.

Moke pointed out that the installation will require larger wire and conduit pipe and new fuse blocks in the John Simpson building at an additional cost of approximately $182.

Removal of playground equipment from the Newman school to Liberty park will be more convenient for children in that section of the city, since space is limited on the Newman playground, Moke said.

The equipment, which includes two sets of swings, will be moved by the park board at no expense to the school. The school board's resolution also authorized the removal of other surplus playground equipment at schools in the northeast section of the city to Liberty park.

Purchase of a check signer for Dr. John H. Bristor, clerk of the board, at a cost of $125 was authorized by the board.

The machine, Dr. Bristor said, will sign his name and that of H. W. Arlin, president of the board, to checks in one operation. It will result in the saving of considerable time in the writing of nearly 1,000 checks a month, he told the board.

DRIVERS FINED

Recklessness and Poor Brakes Bring Penalties to Two.

Two Mansfield district motorists arraigned in municipal court yesterday paid fines for violation of the traffic code.

Charles J. Letizia, 21, of R. D. 2, Lucas, charged with careless and reckless driving, pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs. Letizia was arrested Sunday on East Fourth street after he had narrowly missing running down a child, police said.

Driving his car with insufficient brakes cost F. W. Dill, R. D. 1, Bellville, $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to the charge. Dill was arrested by state highway patrolman L. D. Alexander Saturday night, on route 13, south of Belville, after he had run past the scene of an accident.

Ohio Capital Experiences Its Third Day Without Bus or Traction Service.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Police protection to permit immediate restoration of trolley car and bus service in this transportation-paralyzed city was refused today by Mayor Myron B. Gessaman.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—The federal government moved swiftly today to end a three-day old strike of street car and motor bus operators that left Ohio's capital transportation-crippled and brought dust-coated vehicles back to use.

Stepping in after a conference called by Mayor Myron C. Gessaman failed to bring from union and utility leaders an agreement to resume service, then arbitrate, U. S. Conciliator John L. Connor said he would call a meeting this morning.

"I'm going to get to the bottom of this thing by noon," he declared.

Talks to Union, Mayor.

Connor, who was ordered here from Cleveland, conferred last night and early today with Gessaman and leaders of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes. Officials of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric company, operators of the transportation system, were not present.

"We would be most happy to arbitrate," John Getreau, president of the Columbus Federation of Labor and spokesman for the Carmen's union, said in response to the mayor's plea that action be taken to insure immediate resumption of service. Columbus & Southern officials remained silent.

Another federal conciliator, Hugh D. Friel of Columbus, has watched the situation.

Strike Started Saturday.

The strike began last Saturday midnight after Columbus & Southern refused to grant union demands of wage increases and a closed shop. Ben W. Marr, president of the utility, said after yesterday's conference that the union "seemed to expect us to make the offers."

DIES ON VISIT

Mrs. Dixon, 69, Stricken in Bucyrus Monday.

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon, 69, a native of Switzerland, died unexpectedly Monday here at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert H. French, wife of the Crawford county sheriff, of a heart attack. Mrs. Dixon, whose home was in Beloit, had been visiting here with her daughter since February.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. French and Mrs. Stella Isral of Beloit, O.; a son, William Dixon of Beloit, three sisters and a brother.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Friend's church in Beloit. Burial will be in Quaker Hill cemetery near Beloit.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Moderate Speech Fine-If Everyone From President Down Must Be Moderate

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Am I nuts or did I hear little Joe Goebbels speaking the other night in that portion of the fireside chat where Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Every patriotic citizen must say to himself or herself that immoderate statement, appeals to prejudice and the creation of unkindness are offenses not against an individual or individuals, but offenses against the whole population of the United states. . . . Self restraint implies restraint by articulate public opinion, trained to distinguish fact from falsehood, trained to believe that bitterness is never a useful instrument in public affairs.

Goebbels is the Nazi minister of propaganda and public enlightenment who prevents immoderate statements, appeals to prejudices and the creation of unkindness in Germany except by Hitler, Julius Streicher, himself and other privileged members of the administration, and justifies this suppression on the ground of patriotism and national unity.

In our country in the last few years the most influential appeals of prejudice in the general clamor raised by an excited and confused people have come from the man who now condemns all this and from members of his administration, notably Harold Ickes.

* * *

Such phrases as "economic royalist" and "well fed clubmen" ring out of the past along with the memorable quotation about the rich riding in carriages and drinking wine which was delivered, incidentally, by a miracle of timing on the very same day that dispatches from abroad described an incident on the French Riviera in which a rich young American, riding in a carriage, poured wine from a bottle into the local mayor's plug hat.

* * *

Agreed that immoderate and exciting utterances create that bitterness which is never a useful instrument in public affairs, it must be asked now whether this passage was intended to convey an admission of past guilt and a promise of reform as a sedative for others. If so, there is less cause for concern than if Mr. Roosevelt holds himself and Ickes, with his inflammatory remarks about the Sixty Families," to have been innocent of language which offends against the whole population of the United States.

If the president believes that the administration has been innocent of immoderate speech, then that suggests that here, as in Germany and Italy, violent and provocative utterances may be used by the government to create patriotic resentment against legitimate criticism of the government and its personages.

* * *

Personalizing his appeal just as he personalized his implication of immoral and unethical conduct against individuals who had complied with the income tax laws, Mr. Roosevelt puts every citizen on the alert to resent, as an offense against the national security, any written or spoken utterances which the citizen believes to be immoderate.

Nobody can attempt to deny that the last five years have evoked some of the most absurd proposals that ever jangled the air we breathe and fouled up newsprint.

Coughlin, Townsend, Huey Long, Pepper of Florida, and a hundred other political and economic wild men have whooped the multitudes into sweaty lathers with their dangerous magnetism and their dream pictures.

Some publishers have been viciously and untruthfully partisan against the president, just as others have betrayed their trust and have deserved to lose their franchises for selling out to evils of the New Deal in return for expensive local luxuries and needless improvements bought with treasury money. But to say that moderation must now commence and must be enforced is to borrow a paragraph from the book of Goebbels if it is intended to set suspicion against critics of the administration without similar scrutiny of the government's own utterances.

I agree that it is just too bad that this nation, with so many external enemies, is twisting its own foot with excruciating toe-hold and I think we ought to let go.

But Mr. Roosevelt should have dropped in at least one clarifying phrase to assure us that moderation is expected of us all the way from the president down.

If that is what he meant.

Hollywood Speaks—

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—One of the great needs of Hollywood, in the humanitarian point of view, is a Department of Quick Extinction of Film Ambitions.

To it would be sent (when we become dictator) all those nice little girls and boys who come to Hollywood, get enough of a chance in pictures to prove they have nothing for pictures, and then persist in hanging on.

Before these pathetic subjects had a chance to think up alibis (such as unsympathetic roles, directors, cameramen) they'd be sent post-haste to the DQEFA. There sympathetic psychiatrists would work with them gently but forcefully, removing every trace of the yen to be in pictures. The final merciful work of the DQEFA would be to place the patients on a home-bound train.

The loss of real actors and actresses to the screen would be none at all. The people who are going to be stars wouldn't let themselves be led to the DQEFA. They'd escape the official clutches; or failing that, they'd prove impervious to treatment. These few would be permitted, with cheers, to stay and fight it out—and they'd win, as Bette Davis did, and Norma Shearer, and Jane Withers, and many another who had tough going at first and had to fight to win.

But Hollywood would be minus a pathetic and bewildered portion of its population: the people who've been in a few pictures and ever afterward think they're actors.

They seldom give it up and go home. Having been caught on the Hollywood merry-go-round, they won't jump off. It's too exciting, too much fun. Besides, if they went home, people might laugh.

* * *

Some marry, and keep on trying to make the movie grade. Others marry and gratefully retire from the screen. But most of them just stay around and keep on trying.

Sometimes they get leads in little "quickies," or second leads. These are hard to take, but they're taken eagerly. Each one puts off the day when the final decision must be made as to what to do with a life dead-centered on a profession which can get along easily without it and has lives to spare.

It's all much more difficult, of course, if the patient has had an extra strong dose of studio exploitation to begin her career. The "smell of greasepaint" isn't the only thing that gets into the blood.

REVIEWS POOLE BOOK AT STUDY CLUB MEET

Mrs. Joseph Kuebler Offers Report on "Nurses on Horseback" at Session Held at Miss Marie Hecht's Home.

A REVIEW of Ernest Poole's book "Nurses on Horseback," was presented last night by Mrs. Joseph Kuebler at the regular meeting of the Little Flower Study club which was held at the home of Miss Marie Hecht, Penn avenue. The book is the account of the great work done in the Kentucky mountains by traveling nurses.

Mary Breckenridge, who is responsible for the awakening interest of the people in these almost inaccessible regions, comes from an old and noted southern family. Among her relatives were an attorney-general during Jefferson's administration and her father was in congress and served as minister to Russia in Grover Cleveland's administration, Mrs. Kuebler explained by way of background

Through her association with public officials she learned of the appalling death rate of infants and mothers in the mountainous region and fitted herself first with nurse's training in New York and later with courses at the British hospital for her work After the war she made a survey of the conditions and organized a group in 1925 to provide trained care for the neglected women and children of the southern mountain states, the speaker said

During the first four months of the work 400 women and children in the district of Hyden (the first center) were registered Today there are eight outlying station and a small central hospital with 28 nurses and three supervisors serving an area of nearly 800 square miles with 8,000 people in their care

The total cost per case, including salaries and administrative costs, has been estimated at $10 92 per individual. Up to May 1931 the Frontier Nurses had paid visits to 97,414 homes and had been visited by 56,783 patients, she concluded

Following the meeting Miss Hecht served refreshments from a small table with green and crystal appointments and lighted candles. The next meeting will be May 2 at the home of Miss Veronica Hanley, West First street

Boy Friend's Mother Dislikes Her

By VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Miss Lee: I am a girl of 19 and I am going with a boy who is 21. I've been going with him for a year and a half. He is very nice to me and treats me swell, and I care a great deal for him.

"His mother does not like me, for some reason I have plenty of friends and pals. He (my boy friend) always has quarreled with his mother over me, so he thinks it is best that we break up. Miss Lee, I dread breaking up, so please tell me what to do. G. A. L."

Well, if the boy friend will not stand up for you now, before you marry, he probably would not if you continued to go together and got married, G. A. L. So the very best thing to do is to break up right now. You wouldn't be happy marrying against his mother's wishes, anyway. She could make a lot of trouble and unhappiness for you.

Your boy friend probably is tired of quarreling about you and hearing his mother's arguments concerning why he should stop going with you and go with some one else. If you take him at his word it may be that he will find it is not easy to give you up. He may find that he wants you more than he minds his mother's nagging.

She may have no real objection to you. Some mothers object to every girl their sons go with. Said sons just have to choose their own girls and then stick by them, no matter how their mothers rave.

It is hard to lose your boy friend, but you are young and there are plenty of happy experiences in store for you.

* * *

GINGER or SHORTY: I'm sure I don't know what can be the matter with your boy friend. Has he something on his mind that is worrying him? That usually makes folk quarrelsome and jittery.

If you cannot find out what is causing him to be so temperamental, I suggest that you stop going together. Maybe he has fallen in love with another girl and doesn't like to tell you. That might account for his protestation that he never wants to give you up, and also his fault-finding and accusation that you don't love him.

If this is so it will be hard on you, but don't lose heart. Better to find it out now than to go on trusting him and lose him in the end.

Of course, maybe it is spring fever that is worrying him and if you are patient he will get over it.

* * *

GLORIA: What is the use of writing this boy you say you love and asking him to come back to you? He would only be disappointed in you again. I doubt very much if he would come back now, anyhow. He would be silly if he did.

You don't say why you broke the dates with him after asking him to come back to you and swearing that you loved him. Why did you? If you want him to come back just to keep him dangling after you I hope he has strength of character to refuse to have anything more to do with you no matter how you may approach him. If you really care for him, you will turn over a new leaf and try to prove to him that, after all your bad treatment of him, you mean to be true from now on.

Today's Recipes.

CHERRIO PUDDING — Two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons shortening, one-half cup milk, two cups cherries, one pint liquid, one cup sugar. Crumble shortening into dry ingredients, sifted together, until mixture is fine. Add milk. Pour into well greased baking dish, about 10 by 15 inches makes servings of attractive size. Cover with drained canned cherries, sprinkle sugar over them and then pour over all one pint of liquid consisting of cherry juice and boiling water. Bake 45 minutes in 350-degree oven. Serves eight to ten.

The exposure of a room helps to determine whether the general color effect shall be warm or cool. The warm colors, those related to red and yellow, are especially agreeable in rooms facing north and those with little window space. Cool colors, those closely related to blue, are pleasing in large amounts only in rooms facing south and with more than one window.

"The Authority on Authorities"

FAKING AN ECHO

A high-low echo on your partner's king and ace leads against a suit contract informs him that you expect to take the third trick. It also tells the declarer the same story. Therein lies your occasional chance to put over a "fast one" on him, if the dummy has a doubleton in the suit. You may then be able to tempt him into using a high trump from the dummy which sets up a trump trick for your partner.

After a heart bid by South, West overcalled with 2-Clubs, and North put in a bid of 2-Diamonds. South responded with 2-Hearts North 2-Spades, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts.

When West led the club K, East reasoned that, in order to set the contract, they needed, besides two tricks in clubs, two others He therefore played the 10 on the first trick and the 2 on the second West led a third club, and as South also felt sure that East could ruff, he trumped the trick with dummy's A.

East's foresight saved the day for his side, for the play enabled West to cash a trump trick, which, in addition to the spade A and two club tricks, set South one trick.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"The Lansfield," Mary told the taxi driver, adding the address. Then she leaned back in the car, and I echoed her gusty sigh of relief.

"That detective never even saw us 'littul Mabels with our faces against the panes'," she intoned. "And the other two were so busy watching him, I'm sure they never gave a thought to us. I had my mirror out, you know, and could keep 'era, for very well, it's true, but sufficient."

"I know," I said, for I had seen her manipulating the mirror from her purse, "but if it told you they hadn't noticed us, it was more than sufficient'."

"Oh! I got that, all right," she said confidently. "But tell me, did you get a good look at those two? Would you know them again?"

"Anywhere," I said with a reminiscent shiver, for I felt that the images of the tall, black-haired, middle-aged woman, dressed with sufficient inconspicuousness to make her a possible dinner companion to Dicky, and the swarthy, flashily-dressed gangster, I suspected, beside her would not leave my mental retina for many moons to come.

"That's good," Mary rejoined, then added complacently:

"I've got 'em tagged and filed away pretty completely myself And we've also given that fool of a detective the slip. So let's lean back and rest on our laurels I have a swell idea Why not have the man take us around the park? The leaves are just beginning to turn, and the frost hasn't hurt the flowers yet. It ought to be worth a few minutes' inspection."

Doesn't Matter.

"I think that's a splendid idea, Mary," I said, trying to speak heartily, but knowing that in reality it did not matter where I went or what I did.

It was at the close of our homeward journey, when the taxi was drawing up to the Lansfield entrance, that I heard Mary give a chagrined gasp.

"He wasn't such a fool as I thought he was," she whispered. "Lamp that office entrance two doors down on the other side of the street!"

My eyes obediently followed hers, and saw the unmistakable figure of the detective flattening himself against the wall, making himself as inconspicuous as possible, but craning his neck so that he could watch our every movement.

I signaled her to silence, and made no answer to her comment until we were safe within the shelter of our room, with locked doors between us and possible eavesdroppers.

"That was the only logical move for him to make, Mary," I told her. "He had lost us at the restaurant, therefore his only course was to come down here to the hotel and wait for us to put in an appearance. He probably will talk to our driver and learn that we went for a drive in the park Thus he can report to his employers that he followed our every movement."

"Don't you wish you knew who was sicking him onto us?" Mary asked, and there was that in her voice which boded no good to the culprit when she should discover him- or her.

"Yes, I do," I returned emphatically, "but I think we have learned one thing about the man today."

"And that?" Mary paused, her query hanging in the air.

"He is not an official detective" I said slowly, "although, of course, that hypothesis we never considered seriously. But he is not an employe of any high-class private detective agency, either."

"And how," Mary asked roguishly, but with interest, nevertheless, "do you deedooce that?"

Social Life Brings Up Problems

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother-in-law, who lives with us, has been seriously ill, and still is. And now comes a dance on the social calendar that is the biggest affair of the year in this town. My husband and I would like to go but wonder if people will criticize us unpleasantly for taking part in any frivolity under the circumstances?

Answer: Unless your mother-in-law's illness reaches a crisis so that it is a question of her living through the time when you are away, there is no impropriety in your going to the dance. In fact, if she has been ill for a very long time and is likely to be ill for a long time to come, it would probably cheer you both to go.

Dear Mrs. Post: Does the maxim "When in Rome do as the Romans do" also mean that one is supposed to follow their example? I married into a foreign-born family, but my own people have been in America for generations. Some of their customs are very foreign to me and I would feel very strange in following them. I think if I am not critical of them that I should be allowed to follow my own natural way; but my husband argues that this is being disagreeable and that whether I am in their house or they in ours I should conform to their custom.

Answer: I think that when you go to their houses you should conform to their customs; conform to them, moreover, whole-heartedly. On the other hand, when they come to your house they should conform to your customs unless your customs are in some detail really upsetting to the older members of your husband's family. Remember, older people can not make adjustments easily I have in mind, for instance, the matter of hours for meals. If they are staying with you and accustomed either to a very early breakfast or a very late one, you should perhaps try to set your schedule forward or back a reasonable degree. The younger members of the family should, of course, do as you do in your own house.

My Neighbor Says:

When fitting a new washer to a faucet first turn off the water, then unscrew the top of the faucet known as the "stuffing box" which carries the handle and the main stem. At the extreme lower end of the stem is a small circular metal plate, covered by a soft piece of leather or rubber the same shape and size. This is the washer which must be replaced.

Yankees' Rivals Beam as Red Sox Turn Back Champs Weakened by DiMaggio Holdout.

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE sun-tanned countenances of seven American league managers were wreathed in new hope today as the major league baseball campaign began on all fronts. Only a general rain that swished up and down the Atlantic Seaboard threatened to dampen the day's festivities.

The pilots of the junior circuit beamed in their morning mirrors as they thought of the 8 to 4 licking the champion New York Yankees absorbed in their opener against the Boston Red Sox yesterday, and hoped that the trouble with Manager Joe McCarthy's gang was nothing trivial.

Miss the Lad.

They noted also that Jolting Joe DiMaggio, the Yankees' missing slugger, still was mad at Owner Jacob Ruppert because he wouldn't pay him $40,000 for the season. H-m-m-m. Just as they suspected: The Yanks are going to miss the lad.

They got only five hits in six innings off Jim Bagby, jr., a 21-year-old kid starting his first major league game, and their prized new second baseman, Joe Gordon, whiffed twice. And the mighty Red Ruffing, who won 20 games last season, was slammed from the box.

The Washington Senators, victorious over the Philadelphia Athletics, 12 to 8, in yesterday's bobtailed opening program, had reason to be proud of the swap that got them First Baseman Zeke Bonura from Chicago in exchange for Joe Kuhel. The big fellow smacked three hits, including a mighty home run in the left center stands.

Today's remaining American league openers brought up a few more points of prime interest. The matter of the big trade between Chicago and Detroit, involving a couple of Walkers, Gee and Dixie, Vernon Kennedy and others was due to be threshed out when the Tigers and White Sox clashed. And Mickey Cochrane had the comforting assurance that Schoolboy Rowe was ready to give his all for Detroit after being laid up most of last season with a sore arm. Rowe, voluntarily retired since last summer, applied for reinstatement yesterday.

Then, while rumors that DiMaggio had signed or was about to sign his Yankee contract were floating around, the St. Louis Browns stirred up a bit more excitement by offering to buy him for $150,000. They didn't get any further with that one than Joe has with his holdout.

Rival American leaguers were forced to admit that the Yanks' opening game loss wouldn't mean much over the long haul, but the punchless appearance of the champions at least let them conjure up a closer race than for the last two seasons.

There was every prospect that, with a break in the weather, upward of 200,000 would witness today's contests, which included a Patriot's day doubleheader between the Yankees and Red Sox at Boston.

Interest Increased.

Increased interest has been aroused in the National league by the amazing deal of Saturday which sent Pitcher Dizzy Dean to Chicago for $185,000 and three players. In turning over that kind of money to the St. Louis Cardinals, Owner Phil Wrigley must have been completely satisfied that Dean's arm again is right.

Except for the Cardinals and Philadelphia, the National looks stronger all along the line. Brooklyn, Boston and Cincinnati all look capable of giving the favorites a fight.

FRANK CALLISTA HEADS LIST OF CHAMPIONS TO DEFEND TITLES IN RELAYS SATURDAY

Winners of Ten '37 Events To Be Back to Parade Wares at Stadium Field.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

CHAMPIONS crowned in 10 of the 18 events last year will return to defend their titles in the 12th running of the Mansfield relays at Stadium field Saturday.

Heading the last of returning champions is Frank Callista of Erie, Pa., Strong Vincent, a dual winner in the 1937 classic.

Favorite in Dashes.

Callista, who was named on the national all-high school track team last spring, is the defending champion in the two dashes, and will be a heavy favorite to repeat the triumphs, despite fast fields of rivals in both events.

Howard Carmany of Cleveland Collinwood and Ezekial Smith of Cleveland Central, who placed last year, are looked up as two of Callista's chief rivals in the century.

Carmany, along with Entriken of Columbiana, who placed third, are expected to push Callista in the furlong.

Another defending champion is Howard Leahy of Cleveland East Tech, who won the mile in both the relays and state finals last year. A major contender is expected to be Chesterfield Rogers of Sandusky. Rogers finished fifth in the relays, but pushed Leahy to the tape at Columbus.

Rufus Allison of Cleveland Central will be back to defend his broad jumping crown, and will be an odds-on favorite to repeat.

Bill Reidy of Sandusky won the 880-yard run, but he might find it more difficult to repeat than any of his brother champions.

The half-mile field will include a number of state champions, and this event promises to be the feature of the track schedule Saturday.

A Mansfield Hope.

The other defending individual champion is John Linta of Director Harry Mehock's own Red Streaks.

Linta shared the pole vault title with Decker of Elyria last year, but will defend it alone as the upstate athlete has graduated.

The Mansfield boy is not a cinch to retain the title, but it now appears that it will take a pretty vault to beat him.

Linta scaled the high bar at 12 feet, nine inches in the dual meet with Columbus North Saturday to establish a new field record. This is nine inches higher than he had to go last year to tie Decker, and three inches better than the Relays mark.

Four of the five team champions of 1937 will be back Saturday, but with changed lineups.

Saginaw, Mich., Eastern, which set the only record in the 1937 trackfest, will send its two-mile relay team to Mansfield with a fair chance of repeating.

Only one change has been made in the Saginaw lineup, and it is for the better. Daniels is the only member of the crack Michigan quartet to be missing Saturday, and his place has been taken by Schmeling, who is the state 400 champion.

With Callista as anchor man, the Strong Vincent mile relay club should be a good bet Saturday. However, Hunter is the only other member of the 1937 team back.

Weakened Little.

Smith and Holman are the veterans of the Cleveland Central 880 relay champs of last year, and there is no reason to believe that it will not have the vacant places filled with capable replacements as the track is the school's main forte.

Of the returning team relay champions, Toledo Scott has been hit the hardest by graduation. Only Paris of the 1937 shuttle relay title team will be back.

Liederkranz Cinches Title In Club Loop

Cline Brothers Win Cycle Doubles Crown.

THE Liederkranz club cinched the championship of the Club handicap league at the Meder alleys last night by taking two games from the Mansfield Savings Bank club.

With only one more night of rolling, the Liederkranz club now leads the Baku Grotto, and Tracy & Avery teams, tied for second, by six full games.

In the semi-final night of the season, the individuals held the spotlight.

Pete Linster of the Public Parks blasted out a warm 663 from games of 179, 221 and 263.

Art Hilborn pounded the sticks for a 648 total, which he climaxed with a 233 game.

Pete Mayer, secretary of the league, announced today that the annual Club league banquet will be held at the Liederkranz hall Monday, May 9.

* * *

The Cline brothers, Bill and Harry, won the doubles elimination staged by the Shelby Cycle league last night. They beat out Yarman and Trauger.

* * *

Morganstein of the Tappan Stoves led the Commercial C league rolling with a 619 total. He ended with a 222.

Pays $185,000 To Get Dean

CHICAGO—(AP)—Two glittering figures kept the tongues of Chicago baseball fans wagging today. They were Jerome Herman Dean and the $185,000 Philip K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs paid for the right-hander.

Wrigley tossed baseball precedent into the wastebasket yesterday when he made public the sum that went to the St. Louis Cardinals with Pitchers Curt Davis and Clyde Shoun and Outfielder George "Tuck" Stainback Saturday so that the colorful Dizzy could be put into a Cubs uniform.

Young Talaber Retains Title

Wins on Disqualification From Mephisto.

FRANKIE TALABER retained his world's light heavyweight wrestling crown in a match with the Great Mephisto in the Armory ring last night.

Billed as a title contest, the grapplers spent most of the time shaking their fists at each other and hurling threats. On only two occasions did any action take place. Mephisto attempted to "pile drive" the champ after 12 minutes of the first fall, but the drive ended with Talaber's head in the Great One's mid-section, and Talaber smothered him for the first decision.

After many threats and little action in the second heat, Talaber pushed Referee Nunamaker from the ring. Mephisto immediately slammed the champ to the mat and pinned him, but there was no "ref" to do the count, so Mephisto held him for about 20 seconds. When the ref finally "staggered" into the ring both grapplers were on their feet and Mephisto began to argue he had won the fall but the ref said "I did not see it," so Mephisto sent Nunamaker to the floor—gently—and when he arose Mephisto was immediately disqualified.

Otis Clingman, Texas, and Jack Claybourne, Chicago, presented a very interesting semi-final go. After a very slow start, Clingman warmed up to display some grips never before witnessed on the local mat. Clingman used enough scientific grips on the colored Chicagoan to win most any bout, but Claybourne was much too big and clever to be taken in. After 30 minutes of the first fall, the colored boy folded up Clingman like an accordion to win the count. Clingman took the second in 7 minutes with a slam and smother, but neither could gain an advantage in the remaining minutes of the bout, and it was declared a draw by Nunamaker.

BEAUFORD GLOVER MANSFIELD HOPE IN J. A. C. AMATEUR MITT TOURNEY

By CHARLES MARTIN

BEAUFORD GLOVER, Mansfield lightweight knockout artist, will attempt to keep his brilliant ring record clean when he appears in the Junior Association of Commerce A. A. U. boxing tournament which gets under way at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A.

The youthful ebony flash, undefeated since his debut as a Friendly House amateur two years ago, has scored some impressive victories and will enter the tournament as a favorite to annex the lightweight championship.

Glover has not participated in an tournaments recently due to a hand injury suffered in training, but in his last appearance on the Friendly House card staged early this year, showed he still had his powerful right by winning his bout with a knockout in the middle of the second round.

BEAUFORD GLOVER

Last year the colored star entered three tournaments and emerged with as many lightweight championships. He scored victories in the Mansfield Y. M. C. A., Marion and Ashland amateur tournaments.

His appearance on the Mansfield card will be watched with considerable interest as he tries for his fourth straight title.

The Friendly House stable will also enter another champion in Paul Carbetta, a flyweight. The youth recently won the Galion N. C. O. and Marion A. A. U. titles. One of his rivals for the crown will be a stablemate, Kid Carmel, who has been idle several months.

Other fighters carrying the F. H. colors will be Nick Kabautz, Jim Dewberry and Tom Clemens.

DiMaggio Ready To Compromise

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—Joe DiMaggio is ready to climb off his $40,000 horse. But he wants Col. Jacob Ruppert to help him down.

In other words, the 23-year-old star outfielder said today he was willing to compromise his salary demands with the New York Yankee management. But he insists that Ruppert makes the first move in any get together.

TYGER GRID CANDIDATES WORK OUT IN GYM

Grid candidates at Mansfield high school resumed their spring drills in the gymnasium yesterday due to inclement weather.

Coach Russ Murphy sent the Tyger prospects through a swift but brief signal drill in the session yesterday. No drills were held last week due to spring vacation.

OUTPOINTS YOUNG CHAPPIE

NEW YORK—Mike Belloise, 131½, New York, outpointed Young Chapple, 134, of Albany, N. Y., (8).

Andy Gilbert Wins Job at Danville

DANVILLE, Va.—The cracked vertabrae that Andy Gilbert suffered in Mansfield, O., last summer has not affected the hard-hitting infielder's play this spring.

Heavy clouting has won Gilbert the second base job in the lineup of the Danville club of the Bi-State league.

In a game against the Philadelphia of the National league, Gilbert hit for the circuit. He clouted out a 370-foot triple against Jersey City of the International league in another exhibition game.

A. B. C. CLOSES TODAY WITH MINOR EVENTS

CHICAGO—(AP)— The American Bowling congress closes its 38th annual tournament tonight when the last of 24,785 bowlers terminate 48 days of competition.

Birk Bros. of Chicago clinched the ABC world's championship of five-man teams three weeks ago with a tournament record of 3,234. The team won a $1,000 prize. Team members received diamond medals. Leaders in the other events were regarded as odds-on choices to hold their positions throughout the remaining singles and doubles events today.

AWARD TROPHIES TO Y CHAMPIONS TONIGHT

The Y. M. C. A. champions who won titles in athletic events this winter will be presented with trophies and individual awards at the annual Father and Son dinner at the Y at 6:15 p. m. today. Prizes will be given to basketball, handball and table tennis champions, with special awards going to individual scorers and Junior rifle club, Friendly Indian and Pioneer gym classes.

STOCK LEADERS CONTINUE DIP IN DULL MARKET

1st Quarter Earnings Reports Draw Attention to Cloudy Business Outlook.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stock market leaders continued to slide moderately today as trading forces discovered nothing particular in the overnight news picture to stimulate a rally.

Many unfavorable first quarter earnings statements drew attention to the cloudy business outlook and handicapped stocks of corporations suffering income setbacks.

European markets exhibited strength following their lengthy Easter holiday recess, although American issues were neglected. Bonds and commodities were mostly lower.

Market analysists found little cheer in the April bulletin of the bureau of agricultural economics which expressed doubt industrial activity would register "any great improvement, at least until fall."

Holders of merchandising shares noted opinions of department store executives that sales for March and April combined would show about the same decline from last year's levels as was experienced in the first two months of 1938.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO—(AP)—(U. S. D. of A.)—The salable supply of hogs was very limited today and prices were higher in a moderately active trade. The cattle run was also small and prices were firm but the steer and yearling trade was comparatively slow with shipping orders small. Lamb undertone was bearish and lower.

Hogs: receipts 13,000. including 5,500 direct; market moderately active; 10c to 20c higher than Friday's average; top $9.00; good and choice 170 to 240 lbs. $8.70-8.95; 250 to 280 lbs. $8.50-8.70; 290 to 350 lbs. $8.25-8.50; good 350 to 550-lb. packing sows $7.50-7.80; smooth butcher kinds to $8.00.

Cattle: receipts 9,500; calves, 1,500; steer market slow despite small receipts; shipper demand narrow; killing quality only medium to good, mostly steers being of similar grade; heifers and cows strong, active, instances 10c to 15c higher; bulls 10c to 15c up and vealers 25c or more lower at $10.00 down; mostly $9.50 down to $8.00; best fed steers early $9.65; some held above $10.00; bulk selling slowly at $8.00-9.25; best weighty sausage bulls $7.15 but practical top.

Receipts 13,000. including 1,000 direct; fat lamb trade exceedingly slow; indications around 35c to 50c lower than Friday; talking around $7.75-8.15 on wooled lambs; practical top around $8.25; undertone weak on sheep.

Relieved Constipation Gave Her New Pep and Energy

Miss Clara Morton Says "Feel Like New Again—Can Do My Work With Ease".

Tells of Benefits From Famous World's Tonic.

A young lady, earning her own living, and trying to enjoy some of the social pleasures to which she is entitled in life, tells how World's Tonic helped give her a peppy and energetic attitude toward her work and life in general. She is Miss Clara Martin of 243 Euclid Ave., Akron, Ohio.

"At certain times I'd have such dreadful headaches and general pains all over that it seemed my head would split. I'd be so nervous and irritable that my work at these times would be fearful drudgery. I'd hold my hands in back of my head as often as possible attempting to get relief. Every time the office phone rang I could just scream. I took treatments for neuritis and tried sun lamps for the aching and stiffness. But always I'd wind up by going home and crawling in bed for three or four hours.

"To add to my worries my stomach started to act up. Constipation became a habit and my meals were more like an ordeal than a pleasure. My skin had an unpleasant appearance and I started worrying a lot about my job.

"I've been reading about World's Tonic in our local paper and some of the women who are telling about it seemed to match my situation. That's how I started on it, and I never knew of anything that gave such amazing results from constipation as I experienced. If I were to say I feel like new again and can now do my work with ease, I think that's as good as a whole bookful of all the good things I could say."

World's Tonic is a double acting medicine. It helps promote a free and easy bowel condition and acts as a mild diuretic to the kidneys.

Get World's Tonic at Central Drug Store and all other modern Drug Stores. (E41)—Adv.

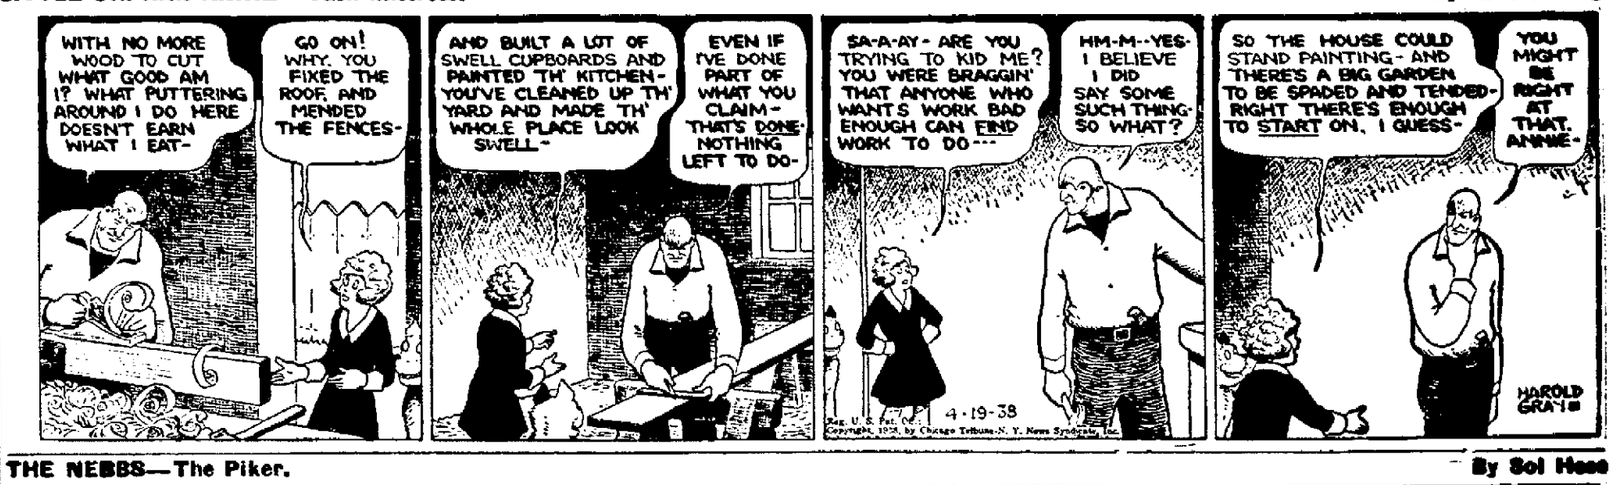
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Task Mistress. By Harold Gray



WITH NO MORE WOOD TO CUT WHAT GOOD AM I? WHAT PUTTERING AROUND I DO HERE DOESN'T EARN WHAT I EAT-
GO ON! WHY, YOU FIXED THE ROOF, AND MENDED THE FENCES-
AND BUILT A LOT OF SWELL CUPBOARDS AND PAINTED TH' KITCHEN-YOU'VE CLEANED UP TH' YARD AND MADE TH' WHOLE PLACE LOOK SWELL-
EVEN IF I'VE DONE PART OF WHAT YOU CLAIM-THAT'S DONE-NOTHING LEFT TO DO-
SA-A-AY-ARE YOU TRYING TO KID ME? YOU WERE BRAGGIN' THAT ANYONE WHO WANTS WORK BAD ENOUGH CAN FIND WORK TO DO--- HM-M--YES-I BELIEVE I DID SAY SOME SUCH THING-SO WHAT?
SO THE HOUSE COULD STAND PAINTING-AND THERE'S A BIG GARDEN TO BE SPADED AND TENDED-RIGHT THERE'S ENOUGH TO START ON, I GUESS-
YOU MIGHT BE RIGHT AT THAT, ANNIE-

PAM—Deductions! By A. W. Brewerton

IN THE PRESENT BAFFLING EMERGENCY IT WAS NATURAL FOR PAM'S THOUGHTS TO TURN TOWARD GORDON, AS ONE WHO MIGHT HAVE SOLVED THEIR RIDDLE!
HIS READY MIND WOULD QUICKLY SEIZE ON POINTS WHICH WE PROBABLY DON'T NOTICE AT ALL!
--AND THOSE THOUGHTS LED TO THIS----
BUT SUPPOSE NOW I WERE IN THE F. B. I.--WHAT WOULD I DO?--HOW WOULD I START OUT TO CLEAR THIS UP?--THERE ARE SEVERAL ANGLES THAT PUZZLE ME!?
FOR INSTANCE, OLD JUDD IS TERRIBLY FRIGHTENED—NO DOUBT ABOUT THAT-AND YET, SEVERAL TIMES WHEN SOMETHING HAPPENED AT NIGHT TO STARTLE US, HE DIDN'T HESITATE TO GO TO THE SCENE OF THE TROUBLE-OR AT LEAST HE WAS FOUND THERE-AHEAD OF OTHERS!
THAT'S ODD!-COULD HE HAVE HAD ANYTHING TO DO WITH IT?-HE CERTAINLY IS THE WORST SCARED PERSON IN THIS HOUSE-IT DOESN'T STRIKE ME, EITHER, THAT THAT'S DUE TO A MORE SCARY DISPOSITION-MUST BE SOMETHING OTHER THAN THAT---I KNOW WHAT I'M GOING TO DO!

ELECTION COSTS HERE 4TH HIGH

Secretary of State Points to Expense in Calling Conference of Election Boards.

ty money to keep six election officials in some of the township precincts where only a small number of voters go to the polls," Mitchell said. The county has 91 precincts, each requiring expenditures of $50 for labor alone at every election.

The county appropriated $22,153 for the board of elections office in setting up the 1938 budget. Of that amount, $10,100 will go to precinct judges and clerks; $3,384 for compensation of election board members; $3,069 for salaries of the clerks and deputy clerk of the board, and $4,000 for supplies, including ballots.

Kennedy said elections in the state last year cost $2,053,000 as compared with $2,600,000 in 1936 when a general election was held.

One of the major purposes of the meeting in Columbus next month will be to work out a plan to eliminate "abuses of the absentee and disabled voters' ballots," he asserted.

SPECIAL BUTLER ELECTION OK'D

Township to Vote June 7 On Proposed $14,000 Bond Issue.

The Richland county board of elections today granted Butler township trustees permission to hold a special election June 7 on a proposed $14,000 bond issue for the construction of a new township house at Adario.

Authority to submit the bond proposal to voters was obtained three weeks ago from the state tax commission. The request was for a vote on bonds to run 15 years.

Funds obtained from the sale of bonds, provided the issue is approved, will be used to construct a building to replace one destroyed by fire last Dec. 11.

tifications yesterday, indicating that Copper would be removed from the force.

Copper, said to have been distraught by financial worries, was taken into custody Sunday afternoon by fellow officers, called by Mrs. Copper who ran from the house, following a family argument in which the officer discharged his service revolver. He has been held in the city jail since.

Mrs. Copper told the court yesterday that her husband had been worried over financial affairs and the juvenile delinquency situation in the city.

Copper, 31, was appointed to the force in 1929, and for the past three years has been in plain clothes. For the past year, has worked almost entirely on juvenile delinquency cases.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

ITHACA, N. Y.—(AP)—Meteorites, the meteors that fall to earth, are messengers of regimentation.

They show, almost beyond doubt, that in all the vast cosmos there are only about 90 chemical elements, and that those on the farthest sun are no different from those on earth.

Nature everywhere is regimented by these 90 forms of matter.

The analysis of meteorites, which indicates there are no unknown elements outside the earth, has been made to the American Chemical society by Dr. Jacob Papish, head of Cornell university's department of chemistry.

Meteors not only come from the solar system, but also from outer space. They are the only tangible messengers man has of the presence of other worlds. In the meteorites, Dr. Papish reports, the spectroscope and chemical analysis have shown the great majority of the known chemical elements.

But not one in addition to the 90. Dr. Papish himself was the discoverer of two of the most interesting chemicals in meteors. These were arsenic and germanium.

Loot Bank While Police Set Stage For Fake Holdup

BLOOMINGDALE, Mich.—(U.P.)—Two men robbed the Bloomingdale State bank today a few minutes before state police were to stage a fake holdup at Homer, 160 miles distant.

State police, seeking to test their effectiveness in establishing a highway blockade, were to stage the fake holdup at 10 o'clock. Less than a half hour earlier the robbery occurred here.

The bandits escaped with between $1,500 and $2,000 in cash. Police said they would call off their fake holdup and concentrate on the real thing.

A. D. Wiggins, cashier, and H. C. Reynolds, assistant cashier, were the only persons in the bank.

Bloomingdale is a small community of only 500 persons.

Police had planned the staged holdup in an effort to test the radio alarm system and to determine how quickly a blockade could be set up.

ROCK CRUSHES 2

Ohio Miners Killed as Huge Boulder Falls on Them.

CADIZ—(INS)—Two miners were killed instantly today when a huge rock fell on them while they were working 400 feet underground in the old section of the Ohio and Pennsylvania mine, four miles from here.

Two other miners escaped death by inches when they jumped to safety as the rock, 30 feet long and four feet thick hurtled from a height of several feet.

The men killed were John Golliday, 53, and John Patterson, 51, both of Cadiz.

A crew of 50 men worked three hours to extricate the bodies from the mine.

WINNERS NAMED

Theater Tickets Go to Five in Jackie Cooper Contest.

Free tickets to the Majestic theater, good until May 13, were mailed today to five winners in the Jackie Cooper contest, which was held last week in connection with his picture "Boy of The Streets."

Only six persons gave the correct answers to the contest, and one of these missed out on the free tickets because there was no name attached to the entry.

Those who received four free tickets each were Norma Jane Casey, 17 Dale avenue; Martha Lucas, 158 Reed street; Frank Swartz, 49 Pleasant avenue; Robert L. Patterson, 16½ South Adams street; and June Keck, 101 Sheridan avenue.

The correct answers, in identifying the Jackie Cooper pictures were: 1—Boy of The Streets; 2—Devil Is A Sissy; 3—The Champ; 4—The Bowery; 5—O'Shaughnessy's Boy; 6—Skippy; 7—Peck's Bad Boy; and 8—Treasure Island.

MR. ZERO

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH

(Copyright 1938)

Blonde, attractive Lady Sylvia Colesborough, wife of Sir Francis Colesborough, has gotten into a jam and has appealed to Gay Hardwicke for assistance. After losing 800 pounds with Sylvia at contract, Sir Francis forbade her to gamble, but, secretly she plays baccaret and loses 500 pounds. A mysterious Mr. Zero phones and offers her 200 pounds if she will substitute an empty envelope for a report on sabotage in the despatch-box of Montagu Lushington, Home Secretary attache, while the Colesboroughs and Lushingtons are guests at the Wessex-Gardners. At night, without seeing Mr. Zero, she passes the reports through a window and receives the money. Sir Francis also has official papers which Mr. Zero wants and he threatens to tell Sir Francis what has happened unless Sylvia obtains them for him. Lushington tells Algy Somers, a relative and employe, he is held responsible for the missing envelope. While dressing to dine with the Giles Westgates, Algy finds the envelope in his coat pocket. At the Westgates he hears gossip about his having sold the report to the Bolshevists. Sylvia had brought Cyril Brewster, a member of Lushington's official staff. The next morning Algy tells Lushington about finding the missing envelope. Algy, who is in love with Gay, decides to take her dancing and tell her he is under suspicion. At the club they meet Sir Francis and Lady Colesborough. Sylvia tells Gay they plan to spend the week-end at Cole Lester, their country estate and that she is apprehensive. Gay plans to go to Cole Lester and if possible, scare off Mr. Zero. Algy drives her to the gateway.

CHAPTER XVI

Sylvia heard the last stroke of twelve die away. There was a tall old clock against the end wall of the corridor which struck with such a ringing sound that even after the sound died away the air still seemed to tingle. There was a tremor now, and she waited for it to pass, because it frightened her a little. Everything frightened her a little tonight.

When the air was still again she opened a big mahogany wardrobe and took out a black satin cloak. She was still wearing the crepe dress which she had worn for dinner. She didn't very often wear black, but Francis liked it better than anything else, and she wanted to please him. She had taken the papers out of the safe the night before. No one else could have done it.

* * *

Francis never forgot his keys or left them about like other people did. But it had been quite easy for her to take them from under his pillow, and open the safe, and put them back again. She had found the papers at once, a bundle of letters marked Zero, so it was quite true what Mr. Zero had said about the letters belonging to him, and of course Francis oughtn't to keep letters that belonged to someone else, but she did feel that perhaps she ought to be a little extra nice to him tonight. And the black dress would be quite good for meeting Mr. Zero in too. It wouldn't show any marks, and if she put on her cloak and pulled the hood up over her hair, no one could possibly see her as she crossed the lawn.

The letters were in her jewel case. She lifted the lid and found them in a flat bundle in the bottom compartment of the massive old fashioned case. Sylvia had wrapped them in an old dark silk handkerchief, put the package in the pocket of her cloak, opened her bedroom door, and stood there listening.

The servants were all in bed long ago, and Francis was in his study. He would be there for more than an hour yet, so that there was nothing to be afraid of. She had only to walk along the corridor and down the big staircase into the hall. She wouldn't even have to pass the study. It was quite easy. Yet she stood there for a long time hearing the faint, measured tick of the old clock. There was no other sound.

When she came to the stairway she listened again, but now she could not even hear the clock ticking. As she went downstairs, she thought of what she would say if Francis met her. He wouldn't of course, but if he did, what should she say? Biscuits — yes, that would do—she was hungry and thought she would like a biscuit.

The hall was very large. The drawing room lay on one side of it and the dining room on the other, with the study behind the dining room. There was no corresponding room on the other side, because the drawing room took up the extra space, but there was a passage which ran past the drawing room to a room that was called the parlor. It was supposed to be Sylvia's own sitting room, but she did not care for it very much. She would have liked the old dark panelling painted white and throw away the faded Persian rugs, but Francis would not hear of it. He said his mother had done her best to spoil the room by having a French window put in, and he wasn't going to let it go any farther.

It was the French window which was taking Sylvia to the parlor. It opened so easily, and when it was open she would only have to cross the terrace and run down the steps to be straight in line for the yew walk. It was as easy as that and if only Mr. Zero was punctual, she would be back in her room in less than ten minutes. And what a relief that would be.

* * *

Francis Colesborough pushed his chair a little farther back from the desk at which he had been writing. He had a letter in his hand, a letter which he had no more than begun to write. The last line was incomplete. He had the air of a man who had been disturbed, yet he himself could not have said what it was that had disturbed him.

He stayed like that, listening, and heard a sound so faint that only a sense keyed to an unnatural tension would have caught it. It came to him as the sound of metal moving against metal, and immediately he remembered the window which had been unlatched two nights ago. He thought that someone had unlatched a window now.

He threw the letter down upon the blotting pad and went to the nearer window. With the curtains dropped behind him he looked out along the terrace and saw a bright rectangle aslant upon the flags. There was a light in the parlor, and the curtains had been drawn back.

The bright rectangle moved, the glass door swung. He had looked a half second too late to see who had opened it and come down the steps, but there was a shadow that slipped along the dark terrace and was gone. An open window two nights ago in town, and tonight an open door—and Sylvia slipping out—Sylvia—

He turned back into the room, pulled open a drawer, took out a small Browning pistol, and was back at the window opening it before a tenth of a minute had gone by. He ran down the terrace steps and out on to the lawn. He was quicker than Sylvia and as silent. She did not know that he was no more than a dozen yards behind her as she groped her way into the black mouth of yew alley. He halted there, and heard her going away from him between the overarching yews. A twig broke now and then. He heard her catch her breath. The sounds receded.

* * *

He swung about and ran along the path which lay between the rose garden and the lawn. The path went straight to the end of the lawn, turned, and went straight again to skirt the yew hedge on the farther side and come out upon a stretch of level sward. Francis Colesborough came running by this way. He had no light, needed none. These were paths he had trodden for forty years. He had played at hide-and-seek about the old yew walk when he was a child of five. His foot knew every step and had no need of the guiding eye. He checked at the edge of the sward and moved out upon it soft-foot and intent.

Gay came suddenly to the other side of the hedge and was gone. She saw nothing but the light—the sharp rectangle of the window and the light which made it visible. She heard a confusion of sound which she could not disentangle. She heard the sound of a shot, and she heard Sylvia scream. She began to run, with her heart pounding and her breath failing her. The picture of the lighted window floated upon the darkness. She ran towards it, and ran into the seat, bringing herself up with a bruising jerk.

The seat had a high oak back. She clung to it, steadying herself, and found the switch of her torch and turned it on. The beam shot straight ahead and showed her a bare arm, and a hand, and a pistol—Sylvia's arm, Sylvia's hand.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON CHAMPIONS

WORN-OUT SPARK PLUGS or spark plugs of inferior quality will not only seriously impair engine performance, but also actually waste gasoline to an extent sufficient to soon pay for a set of new Champions. Millions of motorists install new spark plugs regularly every 10,000 miles, because of the gasoline savings and better performance they obtain.

Champion Spark Plugs exact more certain performance from your engine. So if you want maximum power, speed, economy, and above all, maximum dependability from spark plugs, insist on Champions. See your Champion dealer this week and follow his recommendations.

TREASURY AIDS RECOVERY DRIVE BY GOLD SHIFT

Abandons Sterilization Plan, Clearing Path for Pool of Lendable Bank Funds.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The treasury opened the way today for further enlargement of the vast pool of lendable bank funds in President Roosevelt's recovery drive by abandonment of the gold sterilization program.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., announced that the program, which was instituted in 1936 as a brake on credit inflation, was ended and that in the future gold acquired by the government will be permitted to enter credit channels.

Simultaneously, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, appealed to banks in a radio address to join the government in extending credit to aid business. As head of one of the "big three" agencies enlisted in the president's attack on the depression, he said that the RFC would direct its $1,500,000,000 into fields where it will increase employment.

Latest of Moves.

The treasury's action was the latest in a series of steps taken by various fiscal agencies of the government to expand credit, supplementing the president's $4,512,000,000 spending-lending program.

Last week, the treasury desterilized its entire fund of sterilized gold, making $1,400,000,000 immediately available for financing the New Deal recovery program. When this money is spent, it will find its way into banks where it will become available to borrowers.

On Saturday the federal reserve board ordered member banks to reduce by one-eighth the amount of money which they are required to keep in reserve against deposits, thus releasing $750,000,000 additional funds for credit use. The securities and exchange commission also liberalized its regulations to facilitate and assist small businesses in financing themselves through the sale of securities.

In announcing abandonment of gold sterilization, Morgenthau did not close the door forever on this policy. He indicated that if the gold inflow again reached proportions that threatened the nation's credit structure, the treasury was prepared to revert the sterilization.

The Northwest Ordinance

"Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to the good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

Provisions of Ordinance Later Became a Part of Our Federal Constitution

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles written by Mansfielders in which the various provisions of the Northwest Ordinance are described. Another will appear Thursday. Today's article, on the legal provisions of the Ordinance, was written by Attorney J. H. Gongwer.

By ATTY. J. H. GONGWER

The significance of the Ordinance of 1787 as a document of human liberties has been overlooked, largely on account of the fact that the Constitution of the United States was adopted two months later. This event was of such transcendent importance in American political life that it almost wholly eclipsed the prior document.

It is noteworthy that the Constitution of the United States was virtually a re-writing of this Ordinance, with this important difference, that the so-called Bill of Rights, which really is the most significant and important part of the Constitution, was not a part of the original draft, but was added by amendments.

However, the provisions of the Bill of Rights were embodied in the Ordinance of 1787.

* * *

Political democracy was insured by the establishment of the three branches of government, co-ordinate with but each independent of the others. This was an innovation at the time but is now regarded as fundamental for democratic government.

The Ordinance recognized that human happiness can be secure only if the people are guaranteed personal freedom and security of property.

Property rights were adequately protected. The manner of the descent and distribution of property was set forth. These provisions, with certain minor changes are still the law in Ohio. There was also a provision which was the predecessor of the "due process" clause of the Federal Constitution and also a prohibition against laws "impairing the obligation of contracts." These essential safeguards of private property remain the law today.

* * *

The significant features of any constitution are the guaranties provided for the individual citizen, rather than the mechanics of government.

Religious freedom was guaranteed. Provision was made for trial by jury and for the benefits of the writ of habeas corpus to protect the people against arrest and imprisonment without cause. The people were to be proportionately represented in the legislature. The common law was established as the basis for judicial proceedings. Cruel and unusual punishments were prohibited and bail was guaranteed, except in capital offenses. Slavery was prohibited. It is interesting to note that the majority of votes cast in favor of this ordinance, were by southern delegates.

The Ordinance contained this significent language: "Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

* * *

Thus, it will be observed, practically all of the safeguards of liberty and freedom of the individual and the preservation of his rights in private property were adequately covered in this Ordinance. Certain changes were made in phraseology when the federal Constitution was written, but it remained fundamentally the same as the Ordinance of 1787. It undoubtedly was in the minds of the framers of the federal Constitution. It has been the basis of the constitutions of the various states which were formed from this territory, and of later states as well.

The Ordinance reflects the political and legal thinking of the times and marked an epoch of accomplishment in the development of constitutional government.

formal meeting today.

There was every prospect, according to belief in diplomatic quarters, that Italy and France would reach an agreement quickly. From the fact that authoritative sources said that actual conversations might start tomorrow, it was deduced that Mussolini was ready to effect an agreement before the visit to Rome of Adolf Hitler during the first week in May and that France, by agreement with Britain, was ready to negotiate on a business basis before the visit of Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet to London April 28.

U. S. to Keep Stand On Italian Conquest.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Despite strong pressure exerted by completion of the Anglo-Italian accord, the United States government will not climb on Britain's band wagon and recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Regardless of international repercussions, there has been no change in the American principle of non-recognition of territories taken by force of arms, and none is being considered, International News Service was informed today.

The United States' commercial relationship with Italy has been threatened by this stand, and completion of a new treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between the two powers has been held in abeyance for many months. The United States has been adamant in its determination not to sign an agreement which would be addressed to the Italian king under the title of "Emperor of Ethiopia."

A temporary commercial agreement was signed between the two countries in December, providing for a few fundamental matters, but no permanent treaty will be completed so long as Italy holds out for recognition of Ethiopia, it was emphatically declared.

SECURITY DIRECTOR NAMED

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Social Security board today named George R. Parker acting director of Region 5 (Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan), pending the appointment of a successor to Benedict Crowell of Cleveland, resigned. Parker will then return to his post as director of Region 4.

The governor denied that "shakedowns" would collect one and one-quarter million dollars He said that in 1936 the Democratic committee received "a little over $75,000 as voluntary contributions from state employes."

Meanwhile, State Sen. Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta, member of the recent senate graft-hunting committee, made public "an open letter to civil service employes," urging them to "report and solicitation to the civil service board, the attorney general and their prosecuting attorney."

Governor Davey blamed "politics" for a Cuyahoga county grand jury's refusal to indict Lee Bradley, whom the governor charged with perjury in connection with testimony before the senate graft-hunting committee.

"We are confident that John L. Lewis (leader of the Committee for Industrial Organization) paid Bradley," Davey declared.

TEACHING STAFF SELECTION NEAR

Miller to Send Out Notices of Appointments for New Year Late This Month.

Approximately 225 teachers in Mansfield public schools will receive notices regarding their appointments for the 1938-39 term late in April, and recommendations for appointments will be submitted to the board of education at the May meeting. Supt. W. L. Miller told board members at a session last night.

The board approved the appointment of Hobart Line, 21 Flint street, to the teaching staff at John Simpson Junior high school for the rest of the term, following the transfer of Charles Freehafer to Senior high school to replace Alfred Chabourel, who died last week.

Lime has been a part-time instructor in the city schools and at the Mansfield reformatory.

Miller said the vacancy left by Mr. Chabourel's death would not be filled permanently until teachers are employed next month, since it is difficult to obtain an experienced instructor while schools are in session.

Mr. Chabourel, who had been in the school system here since 1926, taught mechanical drawing and auto mechanics at Senior high school.

STRICKEN WHILE SPEAKING

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Amos L. Eyler, mayor of nearby Norwood, was reported to be in critical condition today after he collapsed from a cerebral hemorrhage last night while preparing to address city council.

STAGE PROGRAM

SHELBY — The upper four grades at Central school will present a variety program at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the high school auditorium. Students of Clark and Cairns school of Jackson township will assist.

FILE WARRANT FOR ARCHDUKE

Nazis Confirm Report Arrest Near for Otto of Hasbpurg.

BERLIN—(INS)—The nazi newspaper Der Angriff, personal organ of Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, today confirmed that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, pretender to the Hungarian throne.

The warrant charges high treason and was sworn out when Otto addressed his monarchist followers in a manifesto accusing Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of "usurpation."

FREAK MISHAP FATAL

LIMA, O. —(INS)— Funeral arrangements were being made today for Robert Boothby, 34, who died of a fractured skull suffered Sunday when he was struck by two street cars in a freak accident. Struck first by a northbound car, he was hurled into the path of a southbound car.

HILLSBORO—(INS)—A hit-skip driver was blamed today for the death of Carl Day, 18, who was found dead on a highway near here.

IN NATION-WIDE TRUCK POLL

OWNERS OF LOW PRICE TRUCKS

GUESS DODGE PRICE

UP TO $135 MORE... Yet Dodge Is Priced with the Lowest!

So Much Extra Value in Dodge Trucks... That Buyers from Coast to Coast Over-estimate Price

"MR. TRUCK BUYER, WHAT IS YOUR GUESS ABOUT PRICES OF THE LOW-PRICED TRUCKS?"
"WELL, LET'S SEE... I GUESS DODGE OUGHT TO COST ABOUT $100 MORE"

Hundreds of truck buyers from New York to California were asked in personal interviews to estimate truck prices in the low price field. A surprising percentage over-estimated the Dodge truck prices.

"SORRY, BUT YOU'RE WRONG ... TODAY, DODGE IS PRICED WITH THE LOWEST"
"WHAT? PRICED WITH THE LOWEST, YOU SAY? MISTER I'M GOING TO LOOK INTO THIS!"

Many buyers over-estimated Dodge truck prices $100 and more. When told the Dodge price, some phoned Dodge dealers. They learned that "Dodge is now priced with the lowest!"

A RECENT national poll of truck buyers reveals astonishing price news. Questioned from coast to coast, hundreds guessed wrong on the price position of America's low-priced trucks. Many answered that they believed Dodge trucks "cost up to $135 more than the others." Yet Dodge is now priced with the lowest!

Best Proof of Extra Value!

Maybe we have told America too convincingly about the sensational extra-value features built into the new 1938 Dodge trucks. Perhaps people simply can't believe that Dodge can give so much extra for your money. Perhaps it is hard to believe Dodge trucks can include dozens of money-saving features and still be priced with the lowest. Yet it's the truth!

Dodge has genuine hydraulic brakes and any truck driver will tell you they are the best. Dodge has four piston rings instead of the usual three. Dodge has roller bearing universals, exhaust valve seat inserts, Amola steel springs and axle shafts. Anywhere you look... in the cab, under the hood, from front bumper to rear axle... you will see feature after feature, each one of which obviously indicates "extra-quality" construction.

Test a Dodge... Be the Judge!

Possibly you, too, have thought of Dodge trucks as being "worth more"... "higher priced." Today, in most cases, there is only a few dollars difference in the prices of the low-priced trucks. And Dodge is priced with the lowest!

Remember, Dodge makes a truck to fit your needs in its complete line ranging from ½-ton commercial cars to heavy duty trucks. So, before you buy any truck, ask your Dodge dealer to send a 1938 Dodge for you to try. Phone him today.

BAR TO GATHER IN MT. VERNON

Attorneys From 12 Counties Invited for Regional Meeting Saturday.

Richland county attorneys and judges have been invited to a regional meeting of the Ohio State Bar association Saturday at Mt. Vernon, where a number of the state's leading legal authorities will address the group.

The attorneys will consider problems of punishment of criminals and rehabilitation of ex-convicts, the Ohio law on real estate, and divorce.

J. W. Jewell of Delaware, former common pleas judge of Delaware county and now a member of the Ohio parole board, will speak on "Parole and Probation."

Other speakers will be Atty. Charles C. White of Cleveland, Atty. John L. Davies of Columbus, Mayor James G. Stewart of Cincinnati, and Walter S. Ruff, of Canton, president of the state bar association.

During the morning session which will be held at the Knox county memorial building, Prof. Joseph H. Beale and Prof. Samuel Williston of the Harvard Law school will present talking picture lectures on "Jurisdiction for Divorce" and "Consideration."

Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be held with the Knox County Bar association in charge of arrangements. Attorneys from 12 counties have been invited.

LETS CONTRACT

City Board Accepts Lowest of 2 Bids on Sanitary Sewer.

The city board of control today had accepted the lowest of two bids for the laying of a sanitary sewer on Shepard road and Overlook road, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert announced.

The contract went to R. O. Darling and Sons company on their bid of $2,929.22, which was nearly $500 under the bid submitted by the Roger Au company whose offer was $3,412.70.

The contract was let yesterday by the board which consists of Mayor Claude M. Hunter and Styert.

Specifications call for the construction of 2,250 feet of eight-inch sewer on Shepard road and Overlook road, including the construction of eight manholes.

LINCOLN GROWS INTO INSURANCE LEADER IN OHIO

Born in Depression, Mansfield Firm and Sister, Continental, Among State's Strongest.

Born at the height of the depression eight years ago, the Lincoln Indemnity company has grown into one of the insurance leaders in the state in its field.

With its sister company, the Continental Auto Mutual Insurance company, these two firms have rode out economic storms that would have proved disastrous to less courageous and less efficiently managed institutions.

Today Lincoln and Continental, both of whom maintain their home offices here, are recognized as two of the most stable of the city's institutions.

The movement to found Lincoln was started in October, 1929, when the economic storms were first breaking. In December of that year the company was licensed by the state and it actually started in business Jan. 1, 1930.

Operate Throughout State.

From this humble beginning, with a few scattered agents but with a definite and unflinching policy, Lincoln set sail. How well its officers and crew have succeeded is attested by the fact that Lincoln Mutual as well as its sister company, the Continental Auto Mutual, now operate in every section of the state of Ohio and together these firms are now represented in the field by more than 500 agents.

At the helm of these companies as secretary and treasurer and general manager is S. H. Glessner, a veteran of a quarter of a century in the insurance business.

It was after Mr. Glessner and his associates brought the Lincoln Mutual out into the forefront in state insurance circles in 1934 by showing consistent and substantial gains despite the most adverse of economic conditions, that Mr. Glessner was made general manager of the Continental Auto Mutual, then located in Columbus. A short time later he moved the headquarters of the company to Mansfield.

Home Offices Here.

Today both Lincoln and Continental maintain their home offices and headquarters in the Lincoln building at 543 Park avenue west.

Associated with Mr. Glessner as officers and directors of these companies are W. H. Davey, H. G. Brunner, R. B. Gardner, R. C. Hoiles of Santa Ana, Calif., Henry Nusbaum of Canton, W. A. Walter of Columbus and E. A. Geauque of Hicksville.

Both Lincoln and Continental are in position to write policies in any amount in fire or windstorm or in bodily injury and property damage in auto liability insurance.

As the result of a reinsurance treaty they maintain with the Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance association of Seattle, Wash., losses in excess of $2,500 in fire and windstorm insurance are assumed automatically by this Seattle firm, one of the largest fire companies in the west.

All bodily injury and property damage policies in excess of $2,500 are automatically assumed by the Employers Reinsurance Corporation of Kansas City, Mo., a 13 1-2 million dollar corporation, believed to be the largest reinsurance company in the nation.

The treaties protect the Mansfield companies from ever sustaining a loss in excess of $2,500 and further safeguard the stability of these institutions in addition to their adequate resources and legal reserves.

Hoffman Shows Latest In Plumbing, Furnaces

A unique sales and display room has been opened by the Charles Hoffman company at 30 West Fourth street. Here the home owner or the prospective home owner will find the newest ideas in plumbing fixtures, furnaces, hot water heaters, roofing and siding that will assure a truly modern home.

Among the features on the sales floor are the Williamson Tripl-ife furnaces, backed by written 20-year guarantees. In addition to the 20-year protection against costly repairs, the Williamson gives automatic built-in hat control without extra cost. It also provides an automatic humidifier, convenient waist-high shaker handle and other features.

In co-operation with the Williamson Heater company, the Hoffman company, one of the city's oldest plumbing and heating shops, has installed a free heating check-up service which is available to every family in the community. Under this plan, factory engineers and Hoffman company representatives make a complete examination of any home and prescribe for it without obligation.

SENIOR HIGH PUPILS HEAR HYGIENE TALKS

Cincinnati Speakers Address 3 Sessions, Stress Need For Early Child Education.

The two-day institute on Social Hygiene Education for parents, teachers and students, which opened here yesterday under the auspices of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Mansfield Council of P-T-A, continued today at Senior High school where conferences were held with the student body.

Dr. Carl Wilzbach and Dr. Frances B. Strain, both of the Cincinnati Social Hygiene society, talked to parents, teachers and social workers at three sessions yesterday at First Presbyterian church and last night to the Senior Hi-Y boys and Senior Girl Reserves.

Addresses Social Workers.

Dr. Wilzbach addressed social workers and parents yesterday noon at a luncheon meeting at the church at which he told them that social hygiene and sex education should start when a child is very young, but that the education should progress according to age levels, as the child shows the need for it. He stressed the necessity for the right kind of instructors, and said that experience has shown that women make the best instructors for this kind of education because of their impersonal attitude toward the subject.

Dr. Strain talked in the morning on sex education for the pre-adolescent, and in the afternoon for the adolescent. The sex education of the very young child must begin in the home as soon as it is old enough to ask questions, she said. All questions pertaining to sex and personal hygiene must be answered truthfully and diplomatically in order not to over stress or under stress.

She said there were three major phases to the sex education of a young child; first, development of its emotional life; second, the parents duty in guiding the child's social contacts; and third, providing the proper biological knowledge. The third phase may be carried out by the natural question and answer system, nature study, through the arts and through reading.

Education for the adolescent should begin with the first years in Junior high school, Dr. Strain told an audience of more than 200 adults in the afternoon, and should continue both in the home and the school.

Among the important phases of sex education for the adolescent is the emotional satisfaction demanded by every child and which may be appeased in many ways; the preparation for maturity by knowing themselves, their bodies and the functions of it; a definite biological course of study in school classes; an understanding and development of the love impulses; and healthful recreation and mingling of the sexes.

Both Dr. Wilzbach and Mrs. Strain talked to the Senior groups last night and today at the school building. Their conferences provided a follow up on the youth forum which started in Mansfield several months ago.

The speakers were introduced yesterday to their adult audiences by Mrs. David Boals, president of the Mansfield Council of P-T-A.

Supervisors For Playspots To Be Chosen Tomorrow

Supervisors who will conduct Mansfield playgrounds activities this summer will be selected by the Mansfield recreation board at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday at Boy Scout headquarters in the Elks building.

The board will hire 14 supervisors, seven men and seven women, to conduct the supervised play at seven playlots, according to Floyd Dent, chairman of the board. Two supervisors will be assigned to each park.

The playgrounds again this year will be under the general supervision of Al Fendrick, athletic director and coach at Madison high school, who was named for the second year as playground director.

A general program for the playlots and the selection of an opening day will also be made by the board. This year supervised play will be conducted at Hedges park, Prospect park, North Lake park, Liberty park, Johns park, Bushnell school and Western Avenue school.

LEAVES JAIL

ASHLAND—Louis Mascitti, 19, of Canton, was released from the Ashland county jail here, after serving ten days of sentence imposed in common pleas court here on charges of driving without a driver's license.

Mascitti was released after an investigation disclosed he had no previous criminal record. His original fine of $300 was suspended, and a workhouse sentence was cancelled.

HURT IN MISHAP

ASHLAND — William Love of near Ashland is in Samaritan hospital here where he is recovering from injuries he sustained Sunday afternoon when the motorcycle he was driving ran into the rear of a car driven by Rufus Brubaker of Mansfield.

The accident occurred on the Mansfield road west of Ashland. Love sustained three broken bones in his foot.

GUNMEN BIND 7, FLEE WITH LOOT

Tie Up Occupants With Rope, Stockings, Get $140.

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Two youthful gunmen forced their way into the palatial O. F. Garland home here last night, terrorized seven members of the household 45 minutes, bound them with rope and silk stockings and escaped with $140 and a diamond ring.

Growling "So this is how you rick folks live," the intruders, whom Garland described as "country boys," lined up Mr. and Mrs. Garland, their 16-year-old daughter, Mary, a 74-year-old hired man and three servants with a pistol.

Mary freed her hands and cut the others' bonds after the pair tore the telephone from the wall and departed.

LETS CONTRACTS FOR SCHOOL JOB

Board Accepts Firm's Bid of $46,122 for High School Addition.

SHELBY—The bid of L. D. Hetrick, Columbus, was accepted for the general contract work for the $80,000 addition to Shelby high school by the board of education last night. The bid was $46,122.

Other bids ranged from $47,980 from the Dehamel Construction company, Cleveland, to $55,394, by the Skilken Brothers, Columbus. Shelby's only bidder, Stacy Haun, placed a bid of $49,386.34. Sixteen bids were considered.

A bid of $2,734.50 by Charles Hoffman, Mansfield, was selected by the board for the plumbing. The next low bidder, J. C. Vanica company, Bellefontaine, was $247.50 over the Hoffman bid.

The Citizens' Electric company, Shelby, received the electric bid for $3,368. While the second low bid for the heating and ventilation, $10,297 from the Parkinson Heating and Ventilation company, Mansfield, was chosen over the low bid of $9,960 offered by the Withers company, Pennsylvania.

Construction work will be started on the three-story addition within ten days of the signing of the contracts, which board members stated would take place this week.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

April 18.

TODAY I walked along a middle fence which must have stood for many years, for buried in the drifted soil, I counted the remains of four or five well-rotted rails in almost every panel.

It was the old type worm fence, built of chestnut, locust and several kinds of oak. Some corners had fallen down, burdened with the weight of time, but as I looked along the 80 rod length, I could see how straight a line the builder made. When new, it must have been a splendid piece of work.

The brambles grew thick in places, the grass, untouched for half a century, produced a heavy sod. The blades grew green and strong, piercing the mold of earlier years.

Within this sheltered cover the quail has found a home, the brown thrasher hides. The bluebirds build their nests in the corners where the rails are joined. I saw a chipmunk scamper along the opening between the rails. He went so rapidly I wondered that he did not dash his brains out at every turn.

Within this heavy sod, with its fleshy roots, the wary skunk fattens on the lusty white grubs. Moles and field mice tunnel in the matted grass. Here, too, the black and garter snakes seek toads that hide in moist shade of grass and leaves —or seize the contents of birds' nests built close the ground.

I saw a hornet bite the outer surface of a rail to make his dark gray house. The lengthy wasp began to hang a few clustered cells beneath a large oak rail.

I heard the heavy drone of a female bumblebee and saw her light and search until she found a small opening between two stones. Slowly her body disappeared. Late in the summer hundreds of hard-working bumblebees will seek red clover fields to gather nectar where other bees cannot compete.

COWS PERISH

BUCYRUS—Smothered when a large straw stack was blown over by a strong wind, four cows, belonging to Glen Stuckey, north of Lykens, were killed Sunday night. Other damage in the Lykens vicinity caused by the wind included the destruction of several trees.

$25,280 FOR SEWING WORK

Richland WPA Projects Given Grant to Continue Work; Will Make More Jobs.

Richland county today was allocated a WPA grant of $25,280 in federal funds for a sewing room project to provide employment for women, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

The fund will provide for the continuance of the sewing room project which has been in operation in the county for several years. At the present time there are between 30 and 40 women employed who work in two daily shifts.

They make clothing for women and children, household articles such as rag rugs and make toys of the scraps of material. These are given to city and county relief clients.

The new appropriation, which will add a number of women to the sewing force, provides for the renovating and repair of used clothing and household articles, exclusixe of furniture and mattresses. These will be reconditioned and given to relief clients. Mrs. Violet Curtice is supervisor of the Richland county sewing rooms.

AHEPA LODGE PLANS DANCE

Proceeds Of Event May 1 To Go To Order's Sanitarium.

Plans for a benefit dance to be held Sunday, May 1, were made at a meeting of Goodwill chapter No. 303, Order of Ahepa, Greek-American lodge, last night at the Moose hall.

The dance will be held at the Mose hall and will be open to the public. Proceeds will go to the Ahepa sanitarium at Albuquerque, N. M.

Plans for the seventh annual state convention of Ahepa, to be held here June 12, 13 and 14, were also made.

Highlights of the three-day convention will be a parade Sunday afternoon, June 12, and church services at the Grace Episcopal church at the corner of West Third and Bowman streets.

'SNEEZING' OIL FROM DIESELS IN AUTOS WOULD 'FOG' CITIES

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS—A yellow "London" fog would fill American cities, the American Chemical society was told today, if all the country's 30,000,000 motor cars were altered to run with Diesel engines.

The fog would be fine oil droplets. They would come from the exhausts, due to a habit of present Diesels of occasionally "sneezing" out some unburned oil.

This report was presented in a paper analyzing the advantages and handicaps of Diesels by Gustaf Egloff, J. C. Morrell, Charles G. Dryer and J. Chenicek of the Universal Oid Products company of Chicago.

The Diesel oil droplets, originally formed by a nozzle only ten thousandth of an inch thick, are so fine they float in the air for long periods. They are not explosive in the open air.

There is no question, the report concluded, that for heavy duty motors and trains Diesel engines are more efficient than gasoline. But it will be a long time, if ever, until the petroleum industry changes over to making nothing but Diesel fuel.

SEALERS MEET

County Officers to Attend Session at Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS—County sealers of weights and measures of northwestern Ohio will attend a district meeting to be held at the courthouse here Wednesday, when morning and afternoon sessions will be scheduled.

O. E. Brenneman, deputy state sealer, and J. C. Tinkey, deputy state sealer and honorary president of the Ohio Sealers association, will be the speakers.

The meeting was called by Thomas Forbes, Lorain, secretary of the state association, for the purpose of discussing various problems of the work of the sealers.

400 PUPILS TO SERVE AS 'HUMAN LABORATORY' FOR READING TEST

Some 400 sophomores at Mansfield Senior high school will serve as a "human laboratory" this week for Eldon Bond, former psychology instructor in Mansfield schools and now a graduate student at Columbia university.

With the consent of the board of education, Bond will conduct a series of reading tests to obtain material for his doctor's dissertation at Columbia. Information resulting from the tests will be available for use by school officials here in planning possible changes in the school curriculum, Supt. W. L. Miller said.

Bond's tests, which will include such topics as comprehensive reading, rate in reading and word recognition, will be given in the regular classrooms.

The work will serve as a sequel to examinations conducted in the city's junior high school last spring by Bond's sister, Miss Eva Bond, also a student at Columbia.

Miss Bond has almost completed her thesis for doctor's degree, and the results of her study will be submitted to Miller this spring, he has been informed.

"I believe the experience gained by the pupils in taking these tests is not only valuable, but it will give us pertinent information relative to the subjects which are covered in the test," Miller added.

CHURCH HOLDS BUSINESS MEET

Presbyterians To Hear Reports, Elect Leaders Wednesday.

The annual congregational dinner of the First Presbyterian church will be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday in the church parlors.

During the business meeting new members of the session, deacons and board of trustees will be elected to fill the vacancies of those whose terms expired at the beginning of the church year, and a resume of the year's activities will be given in the annual reports of the the various church organizations.

The newly organized Women's Guild of the church will have charge of the dining room and the dinner will be a covered-dish affair. Rev. David N. Roller, pastor, will preside during the evening.

SENT TO O. S. R.

BUCYRUS — Three Crawford county men, Delbert Kelly, Albert Harriger and Charles Shepherd, sentenced to Mansfield reformatory for indeterminate terms, were removed to the reformatory by Sheriff Albert French, Monday.

The trio, indicted by the last grand jury pleaded guilty to their respective charges. Kelly was indicted on a charge of breaking and entering, Harriger for larceny and Shepherd for grand larceny.

FUNERAL HELD

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were held at Portage, O., today for Mary Ruth Willis, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Willis, 900 Hull avenue, who died in Cleveland clinic, Saturday. Burial was in Portage cemetery.

A blood clot, believed to have resulted from a fall at the family home a week ago, caused death. Surviving with the parents are three brothers and a sister, Richard, Samuel, Kenneth, jr., and Ann, all at home.

'MYSTERY SUB' STIRS MANILA

American Sights Submarine Close To Island of Formosa.

MANILA, P. I.—(INS)—Manila customs officials said today that an American citizen, whose identity they refused to reveal, had reported sighting a mysterious submarine near Calauan island, north of Luzon.

Calauan is close to the island of Formosa, Japanese possession. The submarine was not identified, the customs men said, and details regarding its purported presence in the vicinity of the island were meager.

The report caused considerable comment here in view of the presence several days ago of a mysterious fleet of 22 destroyers sighted off the island of Midanao in the Gulf of Davao, 600 miles south of here.

FASCISTS TRAP LOYALISTS ARMY

Capture Large Detachments of Troops In Tortosa Area.

WITH THE INSURGENTS BEFORE TORTOSA—(AP)—Large detachments of government troops, including international brigade units, were captured south of Tortosa today after Ebro river bridges were dynamited by the government to hold back the insurgent movement to encircle the strategic South Catalonia city.

Gen. Garcia Valino's Navarrese legionnaires occupied the suburbs of Tortosa and the right bank of the Ebro; then started to cut off the city proper, where the government massed thousands of its best shock troops.

Insurgent officers said international troops formed the backbone of the government defense.

FARMERS HEAR WALLACE PLEA

Terms 'Rugged Individualist' a 'Strife Promoter,' Asks Crop Plan Support.

(By United Press)

OMAHA, Neb.—Your "rugged individualist" is a "strife promoter," Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said in a speech here today inaugurating the newest phase of the New Deal's agricultural program—crop insurance.

Wallace made his observation while telling how crop insurance, to be tried first on this year's wheat crop, will work. He appealed to 1,200 farm leaders from the leading wheat states to work for success of the plan so that it can be extended to corn, cotton and possibly other crops.

Wallace said when President Roosevelt assumed office he had to choose between two plans in handling the farm problem — a "hands off" policy, practiced for 18 years by preceding administrations, or co-operation.

"The dominant characteristic of our farm policy is co-operation," said Wallace.

The "hands-off" policy, Wallace said, is better known as "rugged individualism."

TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1938.

It takes a dozen amateur gamblers to keep one professional supplied with easy money.

There must be something the matter with a pump that requires so much priming—maybe the handle has been mislaid.

"A parent in California is entitled to everything a minor earns," says Jackie Coogan's mother—who didn't serve as inspiration for Mother's day.

Clear Out the Rubbish.

SPRING is a happy season, with old mother nature reawakening. You can add to the joy by making a contribution to safety in your home.

There is a real need for this after the winter months, when many dangerous conditions develop. Now is the time to clear out all accumulations of papers and rubbish from attics and cellars, before they cause a serious fire.

When burning trash and papers outside, an incinerator should always be used. Field grass and papers should not be burned on windy days, and never without close supervision.

Now is also a good time to make a complete check-up of anything else that might cause fire. Look for such hazards as defective electrical equipment, frayed and worn wiring, pennies behind blown fuses, defective heating plants and chimneys, fireplaces without screens and hot ashes in wooden ash containers. Cleaning with gasoline is very dangerous.

After painting, which many do in the spring, be sure to dispose of all oil or paint-soaked rags and clothing.

New World Unity.

A NEW Monroe Doctrine seems to be evolving from the closer relationship of our 21 American republics—with Canada as a deeply interested bystander.

For a century this country regarded itself alone as the guarantor of independence in this New World, because it was the strongest nation. But the children who are the political offspring of the United States are growing up. In international law, of course, they are rated as our equals We are also coming to treat them so in practical affairs As they rise to their responsibility, it becomes easier—especially in the present state of the world—to unite for effective action when any of us are threatened by Old World dangers.

Obviously it is better for all 300,000,000 of us to stand against European or Asiatic aggression against any one than for Uncle Sam to bear all the responsibility. This attitude turns the famous old Doctrine into a modern principle which all our neighbors can accept with self-respect, because they appreciate that we are neither patronizing nor endangering them. We in turn gain greater safety from such a bond. Making no "alliances" in the usual sense, we still have more allies than any other first-class power.

Presidential Pardon for Dr. Townsend.

ACTION by President Roosevelt in issuing a pardon to Dr. Francis E. Townsend is to be commended.

Founder of the Townsend plan for old-age pensions, the aged doctor was under jail sentence of 30 days for contempt of a house of representatives investigating committee.

After Dr. Townsend had walked out of a hearing, in which he said he was being "persecuted," he was charged with contempt and was convicted. The case was carried through the courts until last week the supreme court of the United States declined to consider an appeal.

Meanwhile Dr. Townsend and his followers took advantage of the possibilities for widespread publicity associated with the incident and the jail sentence appears to have taken on the aspect of martyrdom for a cause.

It seems evident that no good purpose could have been served by requiring Dr. Townsend to spend 30 days in jail for his offense against the dignity of a house committee.

Would Cut The Red Tape.

THE LONDON STANDARD has an idea which it urges upon the British government. It recommends abolishing all customs examinations for American tourists in order to show them that "they have an altogether special place in our hearts."

That sentimental reason may be a little too emotional for many Americans and Britishers. But any government that cuts some of the red tape now inconveniencing and annoying tourists will benefit itself as much as the favored foreigners.

The Standard admits that such action would cost the British treasury a "trifling amount" in customs revenue, but believes the "enhancement of the esteem in which we are held in the United States" will more than offset the money loss. It does not say, although this might prove to be true, that the additional money spent in the British Isles by the greater number of tourists might compensate for the lost customs revenue.

Return of the Black Cherry Tree.

A FORGOTTEN and almost vanished tree has lately been regaining its place in the New York state countryside and may soon be important again in industry. This is the black cherry which, according to the state college of forestry at Syracuse university, is now more common than it was in the time of the virgin forests.

Formerly the wood of the black cherry was much prized. Its natural beauty and other excellent qualities were recognized by colonial furniture makers. It became scarce because of reckless use and was replaced by more plentiful but less desirable woods.

Human beings did not save the black cherry tree, but Nature did. Birds scattered seeds taken from the few remaining fence-row trees. The young cherries had a better chance for survival as the old forests vanished. Before anyone realized what was happening, black cherry reforestation was far advanced.

Now the forestry men urge citizens not to cut this tree for fuel or fence posts, uses for which it is too valuable. With proper conservation measures it may soon be brought back to peak production. This arouses hope of saving other apparently doomed trees and flowers.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

THERE REALLY has been no secret concerning Vice President Garner's lack of sympathy with much of the New Deal, or his lineup with the southern Democrats opposed to it. That was in the nature of things.

Nor has there been any secret as to Senator Pat Harrison's enmity to it and his views on the tax bill — which have been the Republican views, not the New Deal's.

Nor has there been any secret as to Tammany's hatred of the New Deal. Its enmity has been expressed by its chief representative in congress, Representative John J. O'Connor.

The fight in reality is not over the things that have been fought over in the present session of congress. The fight is over who shall control the 1940 Democratic convention. Every district leader, even in the most remote region, understands that. And the lineup is being made down to the smallest precinct.

None of that is secret. Any newspaper man going around any part of the country can ascertain that readily.

And yet the issue, in Washington, is discussed by correspondents as if it were over this bill or that. It is questionable whether many of the politicians read the bills. They try to read the stars instead.

* * *

IN THE STARS?

What IS in the stars?

Well, if Vice President Garner were even five years younger, he would be the candidate of the anti-New Deal Democrats for the 1940 presidential nomination. Large interests, believing that the people still favor the Democratic ticket, would support Garner equally with the Republican candidate, who promises to be a conservative again.

The fight for control of that 1940 Democratic convention is one of the most important in the history of the nation. Every person running in the primaries now, down to the smallest office, will have some bearing on the kind of delegates to that convention.

The great fear—among some of the anti-New Dealers — is that President Roosevelt may be pushed so far that, in self-defense, he will start a battle that will gain the nomination for himself. Thus, the tendency now is to discredit the president gradually, as water wears away rock.

Nor are those tactics secret. The smallest politician speaks of them—says all that has been said here. Even womenfolk in households have questioned me concerning them.

* * *

IF NOT GARNER—?

If Garner, who will be 71 on Nov. 22, 1940, is too old, who then?

One does not know. There is the rub. Neither do the opponents of the president.

The recalcitrant southerners—some of whom probably will be beaten in primaries — would not select one of their number, as such a man could not carry the industrial north. Garner is national. Senator Pat Harrison is not. Senator Harry F. Byrd is not—certainly not in the sense of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg on the Republican side.

Governor Henry Horner of Illinois? He is a very successful man, but he could not carry the United States—yet.

He is in the position of Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, on the Roosevelt side of the fence—a good man, but he might not be able to carry the nation as a whole.

Garner has an excellent personality, for political purposes. Eliminate him, and there probably remains only one strong personality in the Democratic party —F. D. R.

There is, however, evidence that Garner will not be eliminated, even by age, by the anti-Rooseveltians, for the moment. No matter what denials are made, he has been put forth as the spearhead of the 'Stop Roosevelt" movement. And whatever stopping is done must be done now, in the present primaries. Those are the orders of the anti-New Deal high command.

And bystanders are wondering just how Mr. Roosevelt will counter. The New Dealers expect him to counter—and soon. And so does the other side. So continue to watch the headlines—or get the lowdown from your precinct committeeman.

Timely Editorial

Immigration Problems.

A sudden rise in immigration, after some years of nominal figures, is ascribed by Rep. Jenkins of Ohio to a relaxing of the "public charge" test, which the government has been applying with some rigor. The congressman feels that the new sentiment for providing asylum here for refugees from European oppression, coupled with any slackening of our immigration standards, can well be viewed with apprehension.

Candor compels the admission that the problem put to us by any considerable body of refugees would be awkward Against the American tradition of offering a haven to the oppressed, which is linked inseparably with the nation's beginning and the shaping of its growth, is the consideration of our present economic state and our ability to assimilate new thousands.—Detroit News.

WORDS OF THE WISE

THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Views Vary on Britain-Italy Pact

—By DEWITT MACKENZIE

NEW YORK — British Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Mussolini have concluded the treaty of amity which the former has pursued so persistently in his search for peace—even risking the political lives of himself and his government at the hands of strong public opposition to dickering with the dictators.

Chamberlain has bought a canine at considerable cost, but unfortunately it is of such doubtful breed that it will have to grow a while before one can say whether it is a war pup or a dog of peace.

It is a creature of peace if it leads to a general agreement of friendship among England, Italy, France, and Germany, thus ending the bitter conflict between the dictatorships and the democracies.

It is decidedly a hound of war if it develops into an alliance aimed at halting Adolf Hitler's progress towards a great Germanic confederation and more personal power.

Hitler cannot be stopped now by opposing blocs unless overwhelming military force is used against him.

He might have been checked a couple of years ago, or even later, if France and Britain had chosen to take firm stands. But the witching hour is past, and he is too strong for a successful interference short of precipitating a general war.

However, perhaps sufficient unto the day is the fact that the new pact purports to be intended to ease the tension which long has existed between Italy and England because of Mussolini's challenge to British dominance in the Mediterranean—a dominance which protects the imperial lifeline to the far east.

As such it is a deterrent to any immediate rupture of the peace. That in itself is of vast importance.

* * *

PREMIER CHAMBERLAIN, famous for the machine-like precision with which his acute brain functions, apparently has been working under the theory that a bird in the hand is worth something. With this in mind he has done some rather liberal bargaining with Mussolini instead of using threats, and the English public is wondering where the advantage lies.

Without venturing to place the laurel of victory on the brow of either Mussolini or Chamberlain, it seems quite clear that Il Duce has done very well for himself.

One of England's chief gains lies in Mussolini's promise to withdraw all his troops and war materials from Spain. The agreement is not to become effective until this is done.

Il Duce also has avowed that he has no territorial or political ambitions in Spain or in Spanish colonies. Theoretically this removes the threat Italy would establish naval bases in Spanish territory, and otherwise work through Spain, to challenge further the British control of the Mediterranean.

On the other hand, England will try to obtain release from her obligation to the League of Nations so that she may recognize Mussolini's Ethiopian conquest. Heretofore, Britain has been a leader in withholding this recognition, which Il Duce so deeply desired.

In essence the treaty is a real peace document. Its main purpose is to remove those points of friction which have grown up largely since Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia and have brought London and Rome to logger-heads numerous times.

What It Means:

The Railroad Crisis.

—By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON—If you can't make head or tail of that railroad crisis the president tossed to congress the other day, console yourself.

Some of the world's ablest financiers and the cream of railroad genius have been trying to solve one railroad crisis after another for more than a hundred years.

It's a wonder the railroads are still with us.

They have competed with each other ruthlessly; they have been hit by competition from buses, automobiles, trucks, airplanes, pipelines and electric power lines.

They have been in seven financial panics since 1837, with investors bearing the brunt each time.

They have borne regulation—good, bad and indifferent—from 48 states and the federal government.

Through the years, taxes and labor costs have soared; today the railroads are paying annually $240,000,000 in taxes, $2,000,000,000 in wages.

* * *

Why They Survived.

THE railroads have survived and held their place as a basic industry, still as important as its recent rival, the automobile, for these reasons:

1. The American public needed rapid transportation to develop this young and amazingly rich nation. The railroads were the answer.
2. Railroad inventive genius constantly figured out ways to cut costs and increase safety and comfort. The first steel rails cost $218 a ton. The Bessemer steel process had brought rails to $28 a ton by 1914. The Westinghouse air brake brought trains under scientific control for the first itme. Block signals reduced accidents. Pullman cars changed night travel from nightmare to comfort.
3. Railroad workers and managements produced the genius and organization to operate the largest railroad network on the earth with speed and efficiency.

* * *

Solutions Proposed.

THREE ways have been proposed to save the railroads. There are arguments against all three.

1. Voluntary consolidation with government supervision over all transportation.

Consolidation would eliminate the waste of duplicate lines and labor costs, and keep buses, planes, etc., in fair competitive positions.

But who will pay off the investors in scrapped railroads? With few takers now, where are the railroads to find new investors to finance mergers? How about the communities that would be cut off from railroad connections? What are you going to do with the thousands of workers who would have to be discharged? And what if the railroads just won't consolidate?

2. Consolidation under government compulsion.

Here you have all the difficulties brought up in plan No. 1, and the added barrier of the Constitution, which says you can't deprive a man—meaning also a corporation—of his—or its—property without due process of law. An act of Congress is not necessarily due process—at least, not until the whole fight would be threshed out in the courts for several years.

3. Government Ownership.

The railroads represent an investment, according to government figures, of some $25,000,000,000. The people and corporations who now have their money in railroads would have to be paid if the government took them over. Part of this payment and the railroad debts as well would have to become a public debt, and the national budget is already carrying a depression burden.

Then, too, government ownership has never been a long-term paying investment in any country. The federal government sank something like a billion dollars into its operation of the railroads in this country during the World war.

* * *

But Crisis Continues.

YES, the railroad crisis is still with us, and will be the next time you pick up a paper. But meanwhile, Congress will have to find a temporary solution, or else the railroads will face the wringer in the midst of a recession. That probably means government loans to buy equipment and pay bills—for the time being.

Then, when econmic skies are a little clearer and the 1938 Congressional elections are out of the way, the government may tackle the railroad crisis in earnest.

Beauty I Would Know

—By HELEN LOOMIS LINHAM

The beauty of the sunset may compel
My eyes to feast upon its rainbow hue;
My lips may sing the praises or foretell
The beauty of a rose, as is its due;
I fashion words of silver from the rain:
I weave from stars a gleaming melody;
But yet there shines a joy akin to pain
In beauties of the heart more fair to me:

When labors cease and evening sweetly waves
Her magic wand across the drowsy crest
Of earth, and darkness steals the day, yet saves
The dusk for sleeping babes upon the breast
Of mothers, and the evening lamp is low,
Oh, this is shining beauty I would know.

Listen, World!

Let's Go Gypsy!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

MARION and Jim have bought a trailer. No, I'm not advertising trailers. But I am promoting something that trailers can and should do for this bogged down nation.

Getting back to Marion and Jim. Grand people—both in their early fifties. Had tough going when they were first married—bringing up new babies and a business. But they've been comfortably fixed for years now, with all but one of the children settled.

Marion and Jim used to count on that time, once. Plan what skylarkin' they'd do when there wasn't a squalling baby to tend or a deal to put over. "We'll have our chance then, old girl!" Jim would grunt. And Marion would sigh wistfully, thinking of the places she'd always wanted to see.

So finally, this last fall, Sally, their youngest, married. And, after the crowd had gone and Marion had had her cry, she and Jim sat down in the litter of rice and flowers and whooped like sixteen-year-olds—thinking now, at last bigolly, they were going to Cut Loose n' Show 'Em!

But the days passed and the days passed, and still they weren't showing 'em. First it was the guest room that needed repapering. Then it was the garage—too short for these new models. Then there was a lotta work to be done in the garden. Then—Marion nearly burst with joy—Sally wrote she was "expecting" and there were, of course, simply scads of things for "Grandma" (!!!) to do.

By now it was eight months since the wedding—and Jim and Marion were as far as ever from cutting loose. Then Jim sat down and did some tall thinking. What was the sense of it all—sticking in the rut this way? They'd dreamed so long of what they'd do when they were free.

Well, now they were free, and what difference did it make? Not a goldarned dif'. Still fussing around with things. Things—things — THINGS. That's what was holding 'em down! Keeping them from enjoying life when at last they had a chance. And damned if he was going to sacrifice another day to T-H-I-N-G-S!

So swore Jim, swallowing half a cigar in his determination. And today—six weeks since that momentous decision—Jim and Marion are rolling merrily along somewhere near the Grand Canyon.

He was—he admits now—plenty scared that morning when he poked his head in the front door and yelled to Marion to "com' on n' see what we got!" . . . and saw her eyes widen with amazement as she saw a wonderland-on-wheels parked by the curb. For a minute he thought she was goin' to throw a fit. Expected to hear, "Why, Jim Madison, have you gone crazy! Go off in a trailer, with spring housecleaning, and a baby coming on, n' everything! I never heard of anything so OUTLANDISH! . . . But, soon's she poked her head inside and seen all those cute little gadgets, why—

Are they having the time of their life? You should see them! The Gypsies have nothing on them! They've parked beside speckled gold trout streams, with the dogwood swinging its white veil across a spring violet sky . . . and Jim gone ten again, with a pole and a bent pin. They've waded through meadows hip high in lupines and poppies . . . and seen the Spanish moss trailing its silvery web over a Louisiana bayou . . . and slept on the desert, with the stars blazing blue and scarlet above the purple buttes . . .

And they've found again the laughter and love they'd almost lost, along a drab and drudging trail!

"You old idiot!" whispers Marion, her eyes glowing through tears . . . her face as wildflower soft and sweet as the day Jim married her.

Some Idea? I'll say. What a pity we can't all join them! We make such needless slaveries for ourselves, we Americans . . . such tragic ruts. Shackling ourselves to Things—and the ceaseless struggle to care or pay for them.

This Trailer Movement — personally I think it's the finest thing that has happened to us since the Covered Wagon trail! What a different people we'd be if we could run away, just on week-ends . . . forget European wars and domestic chores and, just for a night or two, GO GYPSY ONCE AGAIN!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Writing a New York column can be so easy! Like today, for instance. There was a story under a Tokyo date line about Isoo Abe, elderly Japanese statesman who was set upon recently by three thugs. I happened to remember that his son-in-law, Dr. Roy Akagi, is advisor in the South Manchuria Railway, in New York. He has an office at 62 East 42nd street, just a few blocks away.

So an interview was arranged. For dinner. At one of the hotels. And it wasn't long before your correspondent and this Japanese scholar who has had 30 years in America and has gone through four American universities were deep in discussion about his father-in-law and a subject that is close to millions of Americans. Baseball! For Isoo Abe is the father of baseball in Japan.

He introduced it to the millions of Japanese who play it today on corner lots and well-ordered playgrounds just as millions of American kids play it in Texas and Utah and Georgia. He is the man who arranged an "exchange" with the University of Chicago, so that American teams visited Japan and Japanese players visited the United States.

* * *

AND despite a political career in the islands that has occupied every moment of his spare time and gained him the title of "the Ramsey MacDonald of Japan," for he is labor's champion, the elder Abe would consider it an ill spent day that he didn't keep an eye on the big league races. Of visitors he inquires: "How's Lou Gehrig going? or that DiMaggio? I don't think they will ever beat Babe Ruth's record, do you?"

From 7 o'clock till 20 minutes of midnight your correspondent plied Dr. Akagi with questions about Japanese expansion, his own career, the undeclared Chinese war, the feeling among the rank and file of Japanese concerning America, and vice versa.

And this man who has made 650 speeches in three years, who has written books and been a professional at Columbia university, replied:

* * *

"WHEN the west, at the point of guns, opened Japan's eyes to the advantages of trade and commerce with foreign powers Japan realized that education was essential to the development of any intelligent people. And so today 99.7 of the children of school age in Japan are actually in school. We think education is the finest cure in the world for economic and social ills.

"As for China, Japan desires only to protect her interests there. The United States has only 2 per cent of her foreign investments in China. But Japan has nearly 82 per cent of her investments in China. We could lose 2 per cent and not feel it, as the United States could but we could not lose 82 per cent of our investments without suffering a paralyzing blow. That is why armed authority is necessary—to protect Japanese investments. When the day comes that China becomes an organized, intelligently governed nation the need for armed authority by any power with interests in China shall have passed away."

Well, that makes sense, doesn't it?

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

To Go the Whole Hog.

An Irish friend of ours swears that the allusion here is to the fact that at one time, "hog" was the name current in the Land of Erin for a tenpenny piece; and that anyone who became so extravagant as to spend it all at once was accused of having gone the whole hog.

Our Irish friend refuses emphatically to put any stock in our idea that the popular use of this metaphor derives from Cowper's Arabian Night's Tale, Love of the World Reproved.

Cowper tells in verse how Mohammed granted his followers the right to eat pork, excepting a certain part of the animal. Mohammed neglected, however, to specify the part.

Devout Mohammedans played safe and tasted no pork at all; others satisfied their conscience by, at first, eschewing the parts they did not like; but, finally,

"With sophistry, their sauce to sweeten,
'Til quite from tail to snout 'tis eaten"

they went the whole hog!

LIBRARY PLANS ARCHIVES FOR OLD DOCUMENTS

Historical Papers Concerning City to Be Placed in John Sherman Room.

The John Sherman room of Mansfield Public library, which long has held a collection of some valuable and some indifferent material pertaining to the city's most famous citizen, will be changed into an archive for Mansfield historical documents, if Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian, is successful in carrying out her present plans.

The Sherman room, which will still retain that name as a memorial to the American statesman, financier and one-time secretary of the treasury and of state, holds a number of letters that were written to Sherman and a number of state papers, some of which have lost all value with the passing of years. The valuable and interesting documents will remain there, while the unimportant ones will be filed elsewhere.

Seeks Permanent Collection.

Miss MacKellar said that she hopes to accumulate historically important papers and letters that tell the history of Mansfield, as a permanent collection for the John Sherman room. One of the items already in the possession of the library is a complete file, covering several years of Mansfield activities in the Mansfield Gazette, one of the first newspapers published here. It begins with the year 1826, and was published by J. and J. H. Purdy as a weekly paper.

Persons or families having historical papers or pictures and not wanting to give up possession of them, may loan them to the John Sherman room for any period of time, Miss MacKellar said. She is particularly desirous of bringing to light documents pertaining to the early history of Ohio and the Northwest Territory before the official celebration in Mansfield of the territory's sesqui-centennial next month.

The room also will provide a home for the results of the WPA project of collecting all newspaper and magazine clippings over a period of years, which have a bearing on the progress of the city.

FESTIVAL SET

Annual John Simpson Program to Be Held May 6.

John Simpson Junior high school will hold its annual spring festival Friday, May 6, in the Senior high school auditorium, H. J. Dotson, principal, announced today.

The festival will be staged by students of the physical education and music classes and will include dancing by the girls, and selections by the mixed choir, orchestra and the boys' and girls' glee clubs.

Rehearsals are now underway under the direction of Miss Wilma Snider, girls' physical education instructor, and S. K. Jorgenson, Lawrence Frank and Miss Fannie Lew Eiler of the music department.

All costumes to be used in the festival are being made by girls of the home economics department under the supervision of Miss Alice Bower. Irvin Brune of the school faculty has been appointed chairman of the ticket committee.

THEATER

WHEN Norma Shearer steps out of her royal robes in "Marie Antoinette," she will depart, temporarily at least, from a cycle of romantic costume pictures which she pioneered in "Smilin' Thru" and developed to its fullest in "The Barretts" and "Romeo and Juliet." In her next picture she will step into modern comedy of the bizarre type such as "Last of Mrs. Cheyeny," and again she will be cast with Clark Gable. The picture will be Robert Sherwood's "Idiot's Delight," a Pulitzer prize play of two seasons ago. Miss Shearer has the role of the countess, with Gable as the song and dance man. It will be recalled that Shearer is Gable's "lucky star," for it was in her support that he made such a hit that he was swept to leading roles in his next picture. That first picture was "A Free Soul" and Gable played an almost minor role. Later he appeared with her in "Strange Interlude."

* * *

Continuing through Wednesday at the Ohio is Zanuck's idea of the great Chicago fire, as he filmed it in "In Old Chicago." It's an entertaining picture, with a popular cast, with a thrilling and spectacular fire sequence in which a city was destroyed. Zanuck, however, gave little thought to authenticity when he made his music hall sequences. No woman had ever appeared on the stage in tights before "The Black Crook" was presented which was long after 1867, the period of the story. The can-can was instituted in the gay nineties and not immediately after the Civil war, nor was the expression "a lead pipe cinch" in use in those days. Outside of these breaches of historical background, it is a little difficult to picture Tyrone Power as the unprincipled blackguard and vice boss of Old Chicago, nor is it easy to accept Don Ameche as the mayor of the city. But it's all in the interest of enterainment and the fire alone is worth the price of admission.

Truck Pirateers.

The inner workings of a gigantic hi-jacking racket are revealed in "Tip-Off Girls," which the Madison offers for three days, starting today. Valuable merchandise of all kinds falls into the hands of truck pirateers, whose operations cover 3,000,000 miles of paved roads from coast to coast and from border to border. Beautiful girls are used as decoys to worm details of valuable cargo movements out of susceptible drivers who man the trucks used in the nation's motorized transport industry. J. Carroll Naish is seen as the head of the hi-jacking gang, with Mary Carlisle as his secretary, and Lloyd Nolan and Roscoe Karns as special agents posing as members of the gang.

Murder in The Ring.

Evelyn Venable, the Cincinnati girl who now lives and works in Hollywood, and Jimmy Wallington, famous radio announcer and commentator are among the leading characters in "Hollywood Stadium Mystery" at the Majestic. Neil Hamilton is a special prosecutor who appears on the scene when a prize fighter is killed in the ring during a moment when the lights go out. Although the theme is going the rounds of the Hollywood studios—that of murder in the prize ring—this one has an original slant. Eleanor Powell in "Born To Dance," with James Stewart, Virginia Bruce, Una Merkel, Frances Langford and other well known character players, is on the bill.

* * *

Radio Program Filmed.

From the radio program which was one of the best for three years, the Warner Brothers took the name for their musical, "Hollywood Hotel." Dick Powell and Louella Parsons who is "tops" in movie columnists on the Pacific coast, have a supporting cast which includes the Lane sisters, Rosemary and Lola, Hugh Herbert, Ted Healy, Glenda Farrell and Frances Langford. The dance sequences were done by Busby Berkley and Benny Goodman's orchestra provides the musical background. The plot revolves around a young crooner who comes to crash the gates of Hollywood, and encounters difficulties. "Hollywood Hotel" is one of two features on the Ritz bill for Wednesday and Thursday.

FHA 'SPECIAL' AGENTS BASIS FOR WARNINGS

Deputy Administrator Tells Public to Guard Against So-Called 'Representatives.'

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A warning regarding persons claiming to have special connections with the Federal Housing administration in arranging for insured financing of rental housing projects was issued today by Miles L. Colean, deputy administrator of the administration in charge of these activities.

"All such claims are to be entirely discounted," Colean declared. "Projects, no matter by whom presented, must be subjected to the established method of examination, and meet established tests of acceptability."

No Intermediaries.

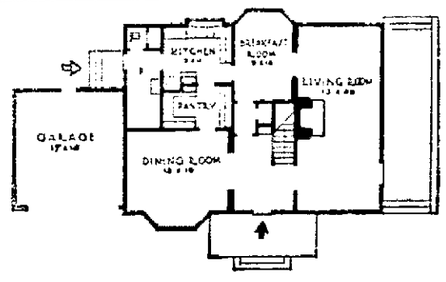
"No intermediaries, in dealing with the Federal Housing administration, are necessary or desirable," Colean continued. "The administration, through its local insuring offices, prefers to deal directly with sponsors — and the more direct the better. The sponsor need employ only the technical assistance usually required in connection with a building operation, and may feel free at all times to call upon representatives of the administration for information and counsel."

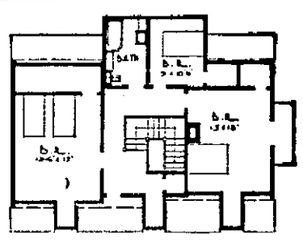
Colean added that all persons, claiming to secure special concessions with the financing of insured loans should be similarly discounted. Ample mortgage money for housing projects is available from insurance companies, the National Mortgage association, and banks, he observed. Sponsors, therefore, may and are urged, in all cases, to deal directly with such institutions, or their properly authorized agents or representatives.

Colean said his warning was prompted by reports from some communities that persons claiming to have favored connections with the Federal Housing administration were using such claims in seeking employment from applicants.

"Any individual desiring to use such persons is, of course, at perfect liberty to do so," he continued. "But it should be borne in mind that more often than not a fee is being asked for a service which the Federal Housing administration and mortgagees approved by it perform as a regular function, and which they are certainly better qualified to offer as a service to the prospective borrower than are likely to be performed by the outside agencies referred to."

For a Conservative Taste





Placed lengthwise on an average-sized lot, this frame house skilfully makes the most of its location. A wide terrace faces the street, and the "front walk" runs along the side to the impressive colonial front door.

The house is entirely of wood siding painted bone white, and is roofed by cedar shingles stained slate gray. The balcony opening off a second-floor bedroom is an interesting feature.

There are seven rooms and a bath—all of unusually generous proportions. Both the breakfast and dining rooms have attractive bay windows.

Architect Howard G. Elwell designed this house and the plan was selected by The American Home, 444 Madison avenue, New York, N. Y.

WINDOW SHADES IN TWO COLORS

Window shades may be obtained with different colors on each side of the shade. In this way the exterior appearance of all the windows may be made to conform, while various colors may be selected for the interior to fit any desired color scheme in any particular room.

DINING ALCOVE

The well lighted dining alcove of a modern house is separated from the living room by a white homespun drapery. The walls and ceiling of dark magenta set off the light maple furniture. The window draperies are also white homespun and the chairs are upholstered in blue leather.

SITTING ROOM

A deep-toned background for the pine paneled wainscot of an upstairs sitting room is supplied by burgandy-colored walls which serve to intensify the beauty of the natural pine mantel and bookcase as well as the Venetian blinds of matching pine color. Linen patterned with Burgandy and green is used to cover one chair and natural color linen is used for the other one.

DECORATIVE DOORS

Doors may serve a decorative as well as a purely useful purpose and add a subtle accent of color to a room. When pale-green walls are used in a room, for instance, doors may be lacquered red and cream.

When You Build Your Home—

. . . Insist on the use of good lumber. For the life of a building depends on the quality of materials used. The initial savings represented by the use of cheap materials are far more offset by later expensive repair bills and replacement costs.

- Lumber homes endure for generations.
- Wood finish is friendly and warm.
- Be lumber wise—not penny foolish.
- Quality Lumber is a lifetime material.
- 14⅞ inches of wood has more insulating value than 10 feet of solid concrete.
- The "termite scare" may be forgotten by an expenditure of less than $10.00 when your house is being built.
- Full cellars are necessary to real comfort in this climate.
- The majority of fires start on the inside of a home.
- A frame house can be readily repaired after a fire, and alterations and additions may be made at a reasonable cost.

And People Do Like Concrete Homes . . .

When a person signs a contract to build a house of his own his heart beats to a faster temp, and hopes and fears and thrills of excitement race through his mind.

All during the days it takes to build, he is filled with anticipation until the time when it is finished and he says, "Last year I dreamed this house; now I am in it. It's my own home."

But long before this the wise builder did a lot of thinking and planning. The decision to build was no snap judgment. For building a home is a serious though happy undertaking.

He studied and balanced his budget; he accepted and rejected; finally he had what he wanted. When he chose his house and determined to build it was because he liked more about that house than any other house he could afford to buy.

This process must have gone on many times last year because four times as many people built concrete houses as in the year before.

People must have liked concrete for it is the principal material of construction in more than 15,000 family home units built last year. All this adds up to the greatest popularity that any type of home construction has enjoyed for many years.

JOHNSTON
SURETY BOND
ADIA-THERMATIC HOUSE PAINT

THIS sensational new but thoroly tested paint is "Adia-Thermatic"—or highly resistant to the sun's rays. The infra-red rays carry the heat, the ultra-violet rays the disintegrating properties. Invisible to the eye, yet highly destructive, both tend to fade colors and weaken the weathering qualities of paint. The processes that give SURETY BOND unusual shielding qualities for resisting these rays have been worked out by The R. F. Johnston Paint Company, pioneers in the development of new types of paints. SURETY BOND Adia-Thermatic Paint insures you of the utmost in protective and beautifying qualities.

FINEST HOTELS AND MANSIONS HAVE

CONCRETE FLOORS ... and so can you

INVENTION of pre-cast concrete joists—as illustrated above—makes it possible for the ordinary home to enjoy the luxury and safety of concrete floors.

Concrete floors strengthen the whole house. Their rigidity prevents sagging walls, doors and windows... their fireproof safety protects you from basement fires ... they are permanently level.

You may select any type of covering for the concrete floors in your home such as hardwood, carpet or linoleum ... or the concrete can be colored, waxed and polished. Concrete floors are quiet, warm and permanent ... never become uneven ... never need expensive repairing.

Ask your architect or builder about them.
